which changed the way anesthesia and critical care are administered, integrated functional genomic, epigenetic and genetic data to help understand how genomes are involved with various diseases and disorders, developed a wireless remote temperature monitoring solution for vaccine refrigerators in rural areas, and discovered a pacing method that enables diagnosis and termination of arrhythmia. The winner in the category, Kimberly Shriner, M.D., F.A.C.P. created a global outreach project that brings Pasadena medical teams to Tanzania where they save lives by educating the people through lectures, workshops and clinics to sustainably relieve diseases such as HIV, parasites and more. "I think that the Rotary Club, their merging of innovation and humanity and engineering and technology is just what we need at this time in the recognized some amazing people who are revolutionizing some of world..." said Dr. Shriner.

The Knowledge Sharing category included people or organizations that coordinated the growth of 50 early stage companies working to translate scientific ideas into products for the improvement of health, quality of life and the environment, communicated the power of NASA's exploration story, did a preliminary design of a human Mars lander, encouraged and influenced students in elementary school through high school to pursue an interest in STEM through use of robotics, and worked with a Fijian community to develop a clean water infrastructure. with a team of volunteers to develop the What I Need (WIN) app, which next year's event, at the website. is a resource directory for homeless and vulnerable youth.

Nominees in the Environmental Improvement category interpreted satellite data to further our understanding of climate and environmental problems and developed a solar-powered bio-machine designed to remove CO2 from the air and convert it to fuel or other products, closing the carbon cycle. The winner of Environmental Improvement, Frances Arnold, Ph.D, breeds molecules as part of a process to transform biomass into fuels and chemicals, with the potential of relieving our dependency on fossil fuels.

Nominees in Disaster Relief and Recovery invented solar powered inflatable light for distribution in disaster and undeveloped areas, and directed efforts to protect NASA's manufacturing hub for future space exploration initiatives. This category had two awardees, Jim Lux, telecommunications specialist at JPL who developed a portable device using radar technology to find victims trapped beneath rubble. "How often do you get to work on technology that directly saves lives...it's just, there's nothing cooler," said Lux, noting that this project was the most personally gratifying project in his two decades at JPL.

Also receiving the STAR award in this category was Sam Bloch, founder of Communitere International, which is pioneering an innovative approach to humanitarian aid, working with the people in the affected area as stakeholders, not beneficiaries, and changing the scope of disaster response and community development. Sierra Madre Rotary has agreed to support Bloch's company's efforts as they assist the people of Puerto Rico in rebuilding after the recent hurricane.

Said Rotarian Joan Riback "These are the only awards honoring the humanitarian application of scientific and technological achievements. They literally go to people who are saving lives. This year's awards the greatest problems of our time, including climate change, AIDS, homelessness, a breakthrough in alternatives to fossil fuels, and life saving devices for disaster relief and recovery. The depth of gratitude that we feel for these people and their achievements is inexpressible." Added Dr. Michael Budincich, current president of the Sierra Madre Rotary Club "I am proud of what our RH STAR committee, and our small Rotary Club collectively, was able to accomplish, with so few active members and limited resources. We call ourselves 'small but mighty'.

danger, we strive to control our bodies, mind and emotions. We do our best to avoid conflict, defend ourselves when necessary, and protect others." G3 Academy of Martial Arts Mission Statement

I met Gary Gapezzani, Owner and Chief Instructor, a couple of years back when G3 Academy was fairly new in town and discovered this was a happening place! I met Ashley Conlon last November when the Sierra Madre Rose Princesses were practicing getting on and off our float in case of fire or other emergency. At that time she was a junior at La Salle and headed for college to major in math and science. She was involved in dance and theater, was an ambassador and football cheerleader for La Salle. Ashley was also part of the spiritual journey program through Pi Alpha Chi, a St. Rita's youth leader and altar server.

What I didn't know about Ashley was that she was on her way to achieving her black belt in Martial Arts. She was actually the first student to walk in the door of the newly opened G3 and her brother, Jack, was the second. Ashley was 11 when she started martial arts, also involved in gymnastics but martial arts is her first love. She is the main teacher of the little kids from 6 to 12 and she received that coveted black belt on November 7th.

What most of us may not know about martial arts training is that this is a confidence building activity where life skills such as learning to speak before crowds, motivating younger students, achieving Blog: www.authordeanne.com greater focus, concentration, discipline not to give up, "A Tablespoon of Love, A Table sharing skills they've acquired and learning the joy of is available there... giving back are part of the training. Ashley created her own methods involving patience and confidence Adventures to handle her kid's classes. Ashley is a Sierra Madre girl and we are extremely proud of all she's achieved.
Congratulations, Ashley Conlon!

While chatting with Gary Gapezanni, he showed me that they've redone the studio entirely since my last visit. The front area is now filled with Hapkido

"We seek tranquility in the midst of conflict and mats where the Little Dragons, kids 4-5, the Beginners who are 6-7, and the teens work out and learn the necessary skills to achieve the next level.

> So far, four students, have achieved black belt status: Ashley Conlon, Sophia, who is 16, and guys: Jack and Rocco who are 15 and 16 respectively. There are adult classes for those 18 and up and > Gary assures me they have quite a few guys in their 50's and 60's who train at G3 where they are involved in a somewhat gentler but still aggressive dynamic training. Sounds good to me.

> G3 has a workout space in the back and there are cardio kick boxing and regular fitness classes throughout the day. If you've got a young someone who could use a few of these life skills such as focus, concentration, and discipline, you might give G3 a look. They're at 303 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., 626-773-6876. A big thank you to all the friends and neighbors here in town who attended my husband, John Davis, memorial service last Saturday. Your presence was such a comfort and our family appreciated seeing so many of you. We appreciate, too, your donations to World Vision's Clean Water Project in John's name. Pasadena Police Arrest "Guitar Bandit"

Pasadena police detectives arrested a man last week suspected steeling in numerous expensive guitars from across the San Fernando Valley and Pasadena.

According to police, Enrique Velasco, a parolee-at-large and alleged career criminal, was wanted in connection with a string of expensive guitar thefts from guitar stores. In these cases, Velasco is suspected of brazenly walking out without paying for the guitars and later pawning them for cash.

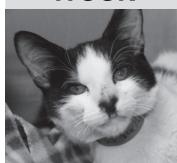

Detectives from Pasadena, LAPD North Hollywood and LAPD Topanga Division had suspected Velasco since September. With the help of store owners, who exchanged surveillance photos of Velasco and his getaway car with each other and the police, a break in the case came when a camera caught his full license plate number. The license plate came back to an acquaintance of Velasco's in North Hollywood.

Police took Velasco, and a female accomplice, into custody November 1, at motel in Sun Valley. Police also said that evidence was recovered, including a guitar, drugs, and money.

The Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office filed six felony counts against Velasco, including Grand Theft, Identity Theft, and Identity Theft w/ "Ten or more Victims." Velasco's bail has been set at $120,000.00.

Anyone with information should call Pasadena police at 626-744-4241 or anonymously at Crime Stoppers 800.222. TIPS (8477).

Pet of the Week

Meet Oliver (A445615), a one-year-old cat who had it rough on the streets and got into a bad accident. We don't know exactly what happened to him, but he arrived at the shelter with serious injuries throughout his body and completely blind. This poor boy is still recovering, but he's now stronger than ever and is ready to find his forever home. We expect his wounds to heal, however Oliver's eyesight will not return. He needs a home that can provide him with special love and care. Despite his troubled past, our volunteers and staff say Oliver is extremely sweet and social. He loves attention and is quite the lap cat. If you want a cuddle bug, Oliver might just be your new best friend.

The adoption fee for cats is $75. All cats are spayed or neutered, microchipped, and vaccinated before being adopted.

New adopters will receive a complimentary health-andwellness exam from VCA Animal Hospitals, as well as a goody bag filled with information about how to care for your pet.

Call the Pasadena Humane Society & SPCA at (626) 792-7151 to ask about A445615, or visit at 361 S. Raymond Ave. in Pasadena. Adoption hours are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday; 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday; and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Pets may not be available for adoption and cannot be held for potential adopters by phone calls or email. Directions and photos of all pets can be found at pasadenahumane.org.

Injury Traffic Collision October 27 at 11:31 a.m., a bicyclist was traveling south along the sidewalk at Myrtle and Huntington. As he rode down the apron of the sidewalk into the street, a driver was making a right turn and collided with the bicyclist. The bicyclist was not wearing a helmet and complained of pain to his head and leg. He was taken to a hospital for treatment.

Criminal Threats October 27 at 11:33 a.m., police dispatch received multiple calls from a subject who was threatening to kill people at a construction site at Primrose and Pomona, as well as at the Metro Station, if officers did not respond within three minutes. During these calls, the suspect also made statements that he was planning to kill police officers. Monrovia officers and Los Angeles Sheriff's Department deputies responded. The Los Angeles Sheriff's Department simultaneously had reports of a suspicious package on the train platform. A containment of the area was set up and a search of the construction site and Metro Station platform was conducted. The Sheriff's Special Enforcement Bureau canine officers also responded to assist in the search of the large construction complex. Once officers were on scene at the construction site, no additional calls were received from the suspect. A thorough search was conducted, however, no one was located. The investigation is continuing.

Shots Fired October 28 at 5:02 a.m., several calls were received reporting shots heard in the 300 block of North Canyon and the 300 block of Prospect. The callers also reported they heard a male subject yelling for help. Officers arrived and narrowed the search to a residence in the 300 block of Prospect. They could still hear a male subject asking for help. They yelled out to him and he said he was on the second floor and needed help. Officers forced entry, cleared the residence and located the subject in his bed upstairs. The subject didn't have a phone and needed medical attention, so he fired 4 to 5 shots into the ground from his balcony off his bedroom to get help to come. He was treated by paramedics and taken to a hospital. His gun was taken for safe keeping.

WHAT ARE 'STEAM' SUBJECTS AND WHY DO THEY MATTER?

(StatePoint) If you've heard your child's educators three dimensional graphs and view them from talking about "STEAM" subjects, they are various angles to better analyze their shapes. For referring to Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts and Math. And these subjects are growing in importance, as more industries require a strong mastery of the concepts and skills involved.

What's more, a growing body of research shows that exposure to the arts can have a positive impact on one's performance in science and math-oriented subjects. As your children prepares to succeed in all their classes, keep these things in mind:

The Right Classes

Talk to your children about ensuring they stack their class schedules with courses that challenge but don't overwhelm them. It's easy to overload a schedule with far too many advanced science courses in one semester that can make success unattainable. By the same token, it's important to ensure that your student is taking enough of the right classes to build a strong foundation for future endeavors. A guidance counselor can help your child strike the right balance.

The Right Tools

STEAM success is built on having the right tools, so be sure students are well-equipped. New features that give students the ability to easily draw success in these subjects.

example, the fx-CG50, the newest model in Casio's calculator portfolio, features a picture plot function and color LCD with a full textbook-style display.

Likewise, students can build a strong arts foundation by learning to play an instrument. Modern music students may prefer using the most cutting-edge instruments, such as Casio's Compact Grand Piano CGP-700, which features a touch display that gives them the option to choose tones, select rhythms and split and layer sounds, as well as the ability to record and playback music. This digital piano has been engineered to have an authentic piano feel and concert grand piano

The Right Programming

After school programming can be an ideal opportunity to reinforce STEAM learning in a way that is fun, creative and social. From the robotics club to the orchestra, find out what your school and larger community offer, and encourage your child to get involved. This programming will likely improve grades and test scores, as well as help your child draw connections between disciplines.

While not all trends are worthy of your attention, models of calculators are taking into account the the importance of STEAM learning can't be demands on today's students and offer expanded understated and, as a parent, you can help bolster

HAVE A GRATEFUL DAY WITH YOUR GRATEFUL DOG

Not too long ago, during a walk with "Brown", one of my favorite four-legged friends, it seemed we both shared an unusually heightened awareness of how blessed we are to be alive. We two were very content just to be walking together and enjoying the weather. Along the way we came across an unexpected subtle yet powerful Sierra Madre treasure.

This somewhat hidden treasure could have easily gone unnoticed, but somehow that day it caught my eye and it had such a positive impact on me that I decided to share it with my readers. After all...tis the season, right?

Many thanks to the kind neighbor who lives on Fairview Ave. for placing this lovely treasure in the plastic letter dispenser you have erected in your front yard, for passers-by such as Brown and I to enjoy!

You think this is just another day in your life. It's not just another day. It's the one day that is given to you - today. It's given to you. It's a gift. It's the only gift that you have right now. And the only appropriate response is gratefulness.

in awe and wonderment over the unique benefits of each individual pose. Asana practice affects everything from function of the physiological systems of the body to the psychology of the mind. There are more subtle, yet profound effects on the energetic body as well. The asana practice of yoga can change the shape of your body, quiet your mind and uplift your mood.

Downward Facing Dog (Adho Mukha Svanasana) is a pose that crosses over several categories of asana. It's a backbend, an inversion and an extension. Head to toe is invited to participate in this one! It energizes and rejuvenates the body and the brain. It relieves stiffness in the legs and shoulders while it strengthens the legs, chest, and the arms. Finding the alignment of downward dog is key to finding comfort there and Namaste, being able to stay in the pose (if you are ok to bear weight on your hands in that position). immense integrates and a beautiful symmetrical posture results.

Chair Pose (Utkatasana) is a must have pose - at least in my class. In fact, students are surprised when it's not included in a sequence! Most simply, chair pose involves sitting in chair that's not there - with arms overhead, in line with the ears. Practiced correctly, this pose is the all natural yogi espresso. It invigorates on all levels. The body is warmed and mobilized. Respiration and inhale are developed. Any shreds of stagnation fall away with this pose. The muscles of the back, abdomen and thighs are activated. It encourages a backbend in the upper thoracic spine which naturally affects and improves posture. It is a fantastic pose - I highly recommend it!

Keep practicing and enjoying the benefits of the physical practice. It will give you motivation to be active and provide relief from the stresses of life. Visit us at Yoga Madre, see our schedule of classes at www. yogamadre.com.

TABLE FOR TWO by Peter Dills thechefknows@yahoo.com

AWARENESS

Perhaps it's my age. Or perhaps I'm just developing awareness to the effects of alcohol consumption. A recent study published in the University of Berkeley Wellness Newsletter said that moderate consumption for an average adult is one drink a day for women and two drinks for a man (obviously age and weight play a part). You may have heard that a glass of red wine is good for your heart, which makes sense since it contains antioxidant and anti-inflammatory properties that may protect blood vessels, but beer and peanuts have benefits as well as any foods derived from plants. I recently covered a story on my radio program promoting beer as a preventative cure for Alzheimer's. Wine drinkers tend to be a bit more health conscious than beer drinkers and often consume their wine with meals. Recently I came across an article suggesting tequila can help you lose weight. I think you see where this is all going.

Rodney Strong Vineyards in Sonoma County has been producing wines since the 1950's. I recently purchased a bottle of the 2014 Cabernet for under $20 at my local supermarket. Yes there was indeed a Rodney Strong - he made his mark in the wine business, but began his career as a dancer (there must be a segue, here but I'll stick to the wine). Finding a cabernet under $20 is easy; finding a good one is something else. I first discovered Rodney Strong while staying at a swanky Newport Beach hotel – the wine was the gift they left in the room as a welcome present. Not one to shy away from a gift of wine and cheese, I have been a big fan since. The wine itself is a bit lighter in color than some other cabs, but the nose and finish are right on target. Some of my friends think it needs to sit for a couple of years, but I say at this price follow me on twitter kingofcuisine point there is no reason to sit on it. Open and let it breathe for a half-hour and Rodney is ready. It goes great with a sweet cheddar cheese or a roasted chicken or even a bone in rib eye. It's priced right, and readily available at restaurants and your local wine retailer.

Finding a Dog

If your sister is interested in getting a service dog, contact some assistance dog training programs. To find them, Assistance Dogs International provides a listing of around 65 U.S. programs on their website that you can access at AssistanceDogsInternational.

After you locate a few, you'll need to either visit their website or call them to find out the types of training dogs they offer, the areas they serve, if they have a waiting list, and what upfront costs will be involved. Some groups offer dogs for free, some ask for donations and some charge thousands of

To get an assistance dog, your sister will need to show proof of her disability, which her physician can provide, and she'll have to complete an application need to go and stay at the training facility for a week or two so she can get familiar with her dog and get training on how to handle it.

It's also important to understand that assistance dogs are not for everybody. They require time, money, and care that your sister or some other friend or family member must be able and willing

POWERING SATURN'S ACTIVE OCEAN MOON

Heat from friction could power hydrothermal activity on Saturn's moon Enceladus for billions of years if the moon has a highly porous core, according to a new modeling study by European and U.S. researchers working on NASA's Cassini mission.

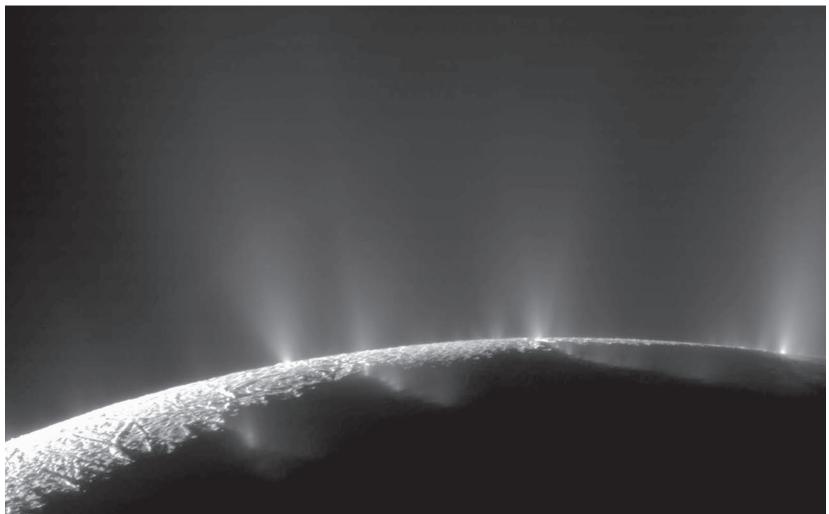

The study helps resolve a question scientists have grappled with for a decade: Where does the energy to power the extraordinary geologic activity on Enceladus come from?

Cassini found that Enceladus sprays towering, geyser-like jets of water vapor and icy particles, including simple organics, from warm fractures near its south pole. Additional investigation revealed the moon has a global ocean beneath its icy crust, from which the jets are venting into space. Multiple lines of evidence from Cassini indicate that hydrothermal activity—hot water interacting chemically with rock—is taking place on the seafloor.

One of those lines was the detection of tiny rock grains inferred to be the product of hydrothermal chemistry taking place at temperatures of at least 194 degrees Fahrenheit. The amount of energy required to produce these temperatures is more than scientists think could be provided by decay of radioactive elements in the interior.

"Where Enceladus gets the sustained power to remain active has always been a bit of a mystery, but we've now considered in greater detail how the structure and composition of the moon's rocky core could play a key role in generating the necessary energy," said the study's lead author, Gaël Choblet from the University of Nantes in France.

Choblet and co-authors found that a loose, rocky core with 20 to 30 percent empty space would do the trick. Their simulations show that as Enceladus orbits Saturn, rocks in the porous core flex and rub together, generating heat. The loose interior also allows water from the ocean to percolate deep down, where it heats up, then rises, interacting chemically with the rocks. The models show this activity should be at a maximum at the moon's poles. Plumes of the warm, mineral-laden water gush from the seafloor and travel upward, thinning the moon's ice shell from beneath to only half a mile to 3 miles at the south pole.

The study is the first to explain several key characteristics of Enceladus observed by Cassini: the global ocean, internal heating, thinner ice at the south pole, and hydrothermal activity. It doesn't explain why the north and south poles are so different, though. Unlike the tortured, geologically fresh landscape of the south, Enceladus' northern extremes are heavily cratered and ancient. The authors note that if the ice shell was slightly thinner in the south to begin with, it would lead to runaway heating there over time.

The researchers estimate that, over time years. (between 25 and 250 million years), the entire volume of Enceladus' ocean passes through the moon's core. This is estimated to be an amount of water equal to two percent of the volume of Earth's activity on Enceladus and liquid methane seas of All Hallows Eve, or Hallowe'en, has devolved into a day of choosing to face our fears in a fun way, and to eat a lot of candy. It is what I did as a child, dressing up in a costume, screaming, pretending to be frightened, and collecting lots of candy. Yes, it was fun, but it was also somewhat unfulfilling. As I grew older, I wanted to know what it was all about, and why we all went through the motions of the day, vear after vear.

past cultures, it was believed to be a time when the dead are very close, and perhaps could be contacted. It was a day to confront our fears and conquer them, and a time to acknowledge our dearly beloveds who have passed away.

When we speak of conquering our fears, it is worthy to note that the root of the word "conquer" is "with" and "query," meaning that "to conquer" is not so much about vanquishing an enemy, as it is about seeking knowledge, with others, about those things which trouble us, of which we know little.

In that sense, part of conquering our fears means that we should not pretend we have no fears, and avoid the subject, but we should face them directly, and seek the root of the fear.

When I was in Guatemala a few years ago, one of our teachers was a man who operated a jade store and Mayan museum. He talked to us about the creation myth from the Popul Vuh, and then began to speak about the Long Count of the Mayan calendar.

"But it seems like a lot of people really want the world to end!" he said, as we all laughed. He went on to explain - as my group heard over and over - that there are no predictions from the Mayans about the "end of the world" or doom and gloom, referring to the infamous 2012 date that so many were frightened about. Some poor journalists must have thought they heard "end of the world" when it was only "the end of one calendar cycle."

"Yes, anything could happen," he continues, "but it's good to stick to facts. The Maya don't say anything about the end of the world. In fact, they have dates listed for several thousand years from now. If they thought the world was coming to an end, why did they use those dates?"

Our main teacher, Miguel Angel Vergara, spoke after the laughter died down.

Vergara asked us to list our fears - in general, and about the 2012 date – as we wrote them on the board. It was a very predictable list.

The Unknown.

Death.

Suffering and pain.

Losing things.

Family.

Vergara then addressed these "fears" one by one.

Yes, the unknown is a mystery, he told us. He paused, and then emphasized to us that the past is Death. Yes, we will all die. We will. And so? Eagle Rock, CA 90041, or Accept it, and then live your life fully.

Suffering and pain. Again, Vergara said, yes, life I have often wondered how the commemoration is full of suffering and pain. That's life. It has nothing to do with 2012.

Concern for our families. Vergara smiled and said, "They will survive without us." He acknowledged that everyone is concerned about their families and this is natural. But we need not have an imbalanced worry about whether or not someone else might or might not survive a situation. Just carry on with living your life.

Lastly, he addressed the notion of losing things. When this time of year was commemorated by We will lose things, he said. That's life. Whether in catastrophe or in ordinary life, we lose things. And when we die, we don't take physical things with us!

Vergara paused and said loudly, "Think! You all of us have ALL that you need. (He was speaking to an audience of mostly Americans and Canadians). You have cars, money, homes, and you still suffer. What are you fearing? You are all like millionaires [sometimes he would say billionaires] compared to most of the people in the rest of the world.

"We buy what we need at the supermarket," Vergara told us. "We have lost our inner warrior. We are weak and we are comfortable. We don't want to fight. So what should we do, asked Vergara. What is the best formula to recover this part of ourselves?

He offered many solutions. He described ceremonies that we could perform to reconnect with the earth, and our divinity. He said Love, Real Love, is a part of our solution. Vergara added that 'Ninety-nine percent of the time we fail to solve our problems because we don't knock on the door of divinity. We think that our ego will solve our problems. We know all the things of the outside world, but we don't know our Self. Are first task is to Know Thy Self."

Vergara emphasized the need to avoid fear, and go forward with our purpose in life. He explained that most people in the poorer and lesser-developed parts of the world are not worried about "the end of the world" predictions. Why? They are working hard, every day, for basic survival. "Always keep in mind that the main purpose of life is Self-Realization."

During my studies with Vergara, and other Mayan teachers, I found that they never shied away from talking about death, or fears in general. They taught us to look forward with open eyes, and to embrace others who are on the same seeking-path. As Eric Fromme stated in his classic "Art of Loving" book, Love is the solution to the problem of human know it's October.' With that, she led me to the refrigerator where she had a calendar and pointed to me that today was the first day of November. It was hard for me to believe it; I thought she had made that calendar up herself. After thinking for a few moments, I concluded that she was right. After all, she's always right and I'm always left holding the bag.

her, "Where in the world did October go? I'm not finished with October yet.'

"Finished or not," she said laughingly, "October is over and it is now November.'

I like to enjoy my time and I did not believe I had fully enjoyed all of October yet. That's just the way life is. Here today, gone tomorrow. October yesterday, November today. When will all of this nonsense stop?

I should have noticed it was November because the whole house smelled of roast turkey in the oven. It is in November that we celebrate and winter steps up, the long sleeve shirt is Thanksgiving. My wife had already purchased the turkey and was in the process of cooking it for Thanksgiving.

Yours Truly.

When Fall comes, you would think I would be prepared. Fall brings a different attitude in things. All of the nice warm weather is gone and now we have a little bit of Chilly Willy weather.

Summertime is the time to be a little lazy and not get too worked up about anything. The attitude I have during the summer is, "There's always tomorrow."

The attitude of the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage is, "There's only today."

Summertime cultivates a sense of laziness in my bones. I can get away with doing the summer because I can always complain about the heat. "It's too hot to do anything today." I usually get Tripping into November that attitude and excuse goes out the window.

There is an expectancy from the other resident in our home that there is a lot of work to do in preparation for Thanksgiving and Christmas and New Year's Eve and it all has to be done now. Then, she produces her infamous "Honey-Do-List" and

Oh, how I miss the summer time. reason it always catches me by surprise.

Just like in the sixth grade. Our teacher gave us Mistress of the Parsonage a test every Friday, but when Friday came, it was a surprise to us. I guess I have brought that attitude into adulthood.

Getting things done is the priority of my wife, which she pushes off on to me. My attitude is that "You can't fool me," I said quite sarcastically, "I if it gets done, it gets done and if it doesn't get done, I'll do it tomorrow.

Between November and December, there are 61 days. That sounds like a lot of time, but when you have to squeeze into 61 days 999 items from the "Honey-Do-List" it just does not seem possible. My wife, however, can do that and more in 61 days. Being the gracious husband I have been all these vears, I have never vet asked her how she does it. With a little bit of sadness in my voice I said to Because I know, if I asked, she will tell. There are some things I don't need to know and that is one.

> Another problem I have with Fall is the weather. All summer long, I have grown accustomed to wearing short sleeve shirts. I like short sleeve shirts. When Fall comes, particularly November, the weather changes and I need to step up my game to long sleeve shirts.

I don't have any problem so to speak with long sleeve shirts. I just prefer a short sleeve shirt. But you know the weather. It demands long sleeve shirts in the Fall. Of course, when fall disappears transferred into a sweater. And you know what I would not mind the Fall so bad if it wasn't so The only turkey we're not really grateful for is busy. Beginning with the Halloween celebration, whatever that is, and going all the way down the road to the New Year's Eve celebration is one celebration after another.

> As I was musing on all of these aspects of the Fall season, my wife brought me a hot apple cider tea. It is one of my favorite drinks. She said as she brought it to me, "I know Fall is here and I thought you might enjoy this hot apple cider tea."

> All summer long, I had forgotten about this favorite drink of mine. When she brought it to me, I could not keep a smile off of my face. After my first sip, I sat back in my chair and said loudly so everybody in the house could hear, "I'm glad

> While I was drinking my hot apple cider tea, I mused on a verse from the Psalms. "This is the day which the Lord hath made; we will rejoice and be glad in it" (Psalm 118:24).

> Every day brings it some reason to rejoice in the Lord. My job is to find that reason.

TAKING THE GOLD LINE TO CITRUS COLLEGE AND BEYOND

By Dr. Edward C. Ortell Citrus College Governing Board Member

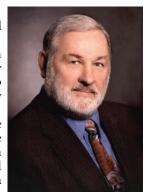

This fall, over 20,000 students from throughout the San Gabriel Valley and beyond have taken the first step to changing their lives for the better by enrolling in courses at Citrus College.

For many, especially those who are low-income or first-generation college students, this is a momentous decision that comes with increased financial responsibilities, lifestyle changes and a great deal of hard work. A significant number of them have jobs and families that already place demands on their Dr. Edward C. Ortell time and resources. For these students, transportation presents a major obstacle to achieving the top 100 community colleges in the nation for their higher education goals.

A recent survey conducted by the California Student Aid Commission found that the costs associated with attaining a college education, even for students attending one of California's affordable students can expect to pay up to $1,000 per year on transportation alone.

Given its close proximity to the APU/Citrus College Gold Line Station – less than a block from the campus - Citrus College provides a unique higher education option for students seeking lowcost, convenient transportation. Perhaps that's the reason Citrus College students have advocated for the Foothill Extension of the Gold Line for more than a decade. Even today, their commitment to public transportation remains strong. Last spring, 83 they could be part of the Class Pass program, which throughout our region and beyond.

allows them to purchase low-cost transit passes for unlimited rides on Foothill Transit Local and Silver Streak bus lines.

Close proximity to a light-rail station isn't the only reason students are enrolling in increasing numbers at Citrus College. The college has long been recognized for excellence among its peer institutions. This year, Citrus College was voted "Favorite College" and "Favorite Career College" by the readers of the San Gabriel Valley News Group, and Citrus College was awarded the "Gold" distinction for being the "Best Community College" in Beacon Media Readers' Choice Awards. Once again, the college was ranked among awarding associate degrees for transfer, and Citrus College continued to be named a "STEM Jobs Approved College" and a "Military Friendly School" by GI Jobs magazine.

While it's gratifying to know that the efforts community colleges, can stack up quickly, and of students, employees, college leaders and board members were instrumental in connecting locales west and southwest to the many outstanding programs offered by Citrus College, we know that there is still work to be done. In December, Citrus College will be the site of a groundbreaking ceremony for the next phase of the Foothill Gold Line, which will take the line east from the APU/Citrus College Station to Montclair.

One day, graduates of Citrus College will take the Gold Line to continue their education at prestigious four-year colleges and universities, or they will percent of them voted to increase their student fees so travel to rewarding careers and exciting destinations

Peter resides in the area and it was doubly thrilling to have his close by friends see him win at Del Mar. I was happy to see Kent Desormeaux win on Roy H.

Congrats to all the winners and especially our Flavien Pratt of Battle of Midway and Mike Smith on Caledonia Road. Many were surprised that Gun Runner took the Classic; he surely will be Horse of the Year. Next year it's off to Churchill All the races were very exciting, but the favored Downs. Because of its high-insulation characteristic, asbestos was often added to construction materials in the 1980's. Although ACM materials were no longer being manufactured in 1985, they were still being sold, stored and used in construction. Lead was also used in paint in homes and buildings constructed prior to 1978. Residential homes and commercial buildings built before 1985 should be tested for asbestos and any constructed before 1978 should be tested for lead prior to removal of wall, ceiling, flooring or roofing materials. Testing labs employ trained professionals who specialize in identifying lead and asbestos. Asbestos can be found in vinyl floor tiles and floor mastic; drywall or drywall patching compound; wall texture; insulation for furnaces, stoves, pipes and electrical; some roofing shingles and mastic, as well as siding materials. Asbestos is most commonly found in ceiling textures such as "popcorn" or "cottage cheese" which are also known as "acoustic ceiling materials". Although the amount of asbestos found in our communities today is becoming scarce due to laws and regulations, Cal OSHA regulates asbestos and hazards of mold, asbestos and lead, visit SOS' website lead removal and sets strict guidelines for contractors at www.TrustSOS.Solutions.

built before 1985, you may be in danger of breathing so can result in costly fines. Contractors who are not in asbestos containing materials (ACM) or lead if you certified to remove asbestos and lead materials can remodel or hire a contractor after having water, mold, cross-contaminate a home or building, deeming it to be an unsafe environment for its occupants.

According to the Wall Street Journal, "Most exposure today comes when old insulation or tiling is disturbed during construction projects... and proper precautions are not taken to avoid breathing in dust." The only way asbestos can affect your health is if the fibers are disturbed, become airborne and are inhaled.

Property owners can take advantage of SOS Solutions free services in scheduling certified testing labs and contractors to remove and properly dispose of asbestos and lead. SOS also provides free project management services to electricians, plumbers, HVAC and other contractors who are not certified to handle, remove or dispose of materials containing asbestos, lead or mold. ## Jeff's Book Pics By Jeff Brown

The Midnight Line: A Jack Reacher Novel by Lee Child Reacher takes an aimless stroll past a pawn shop in a small Midwestern town. In the window he sees a West Point class ring from 2005. It's tiny; a woman cadet's graduation present to herself. Why would she give it up? Reacher's a West Pointer too, and he knows what she went through to get it. Reacher tracks the ring back to its owner, step by step, down a criminal trail leading west. Like Big Foot come out of the forest, he arrives in the deserted wilds of Wyoming. All he wants is to find the woman. If she's OK, he'll walk away. If she's not - he'll stop at nothing. He's still shaken by the recent horrors of Make Me, and now The Midnight Line sees him set on a raw and elemental quest for simple justice. Best advice: don't get in his way.

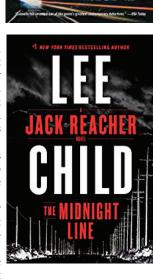

Promise Me, Dad: A Year of Hope, Hardship, and Purpose by

A deeply moving memoir about the year that would forever change both a family and a country.In November 2014, thirteen members of the Biden family gathered on Nantucket for Thanksgiving, a tradition they had been celebrating for the past forty years; it was the one constant in what had become a hectic, scrutinized, and overscheduled life. The Thanksgiving holiday was a much-needed respite, a time to connect, a time to reflect on what the year had brought, and what the future might hold. But this year felt different from all those that had come before. Joe and Jill Biden's eldest son, Beau, had been diagnosed with a malignant brain tumor fifteen months earlier, and his survival was uncertain. "Promise me, Dad," Beau had told his father. "Give me your word that no matter what happens, you're going to be all right." Joe Biden gave him his word. Promise Me, Dad chronicles the year that followed, which would be the most momentous and challenging in Joe Biden's extraordinary life and career. Vice President Biden traveled more than a hundred thousand miles that the twin imperatives of living up to his responsibilities to his country and his responsibilities to his family. And never far away was the insistent and urgent question of whether he should seek the presidency in 2016. The year brought real triumph and accomplishment, and wrenching pain. But even in the worst times, Biden was able to lean on the strength of his long, deep bonds with his family, on his faith, and on his deepening friendship with the man in the Oval Office, Barack Obama.Writing with poignancy and immediacy, Joe Biden allows readers to feel the urgency of each moment, to experience the days when he felt unable to move forward as well as the days when he felt like he could not afford to stop. This is a book written not just by the vice president, but by a father, grandfather, friend, and husband. Promise Me, Dad is a story of how family and friendships sustain us and how hope, purpose, and action can guide us through the pain of personal loss into the light of a new future.

Two Kinds of Truth: The New Harry Bosch by Michael Connelly

Harry Bosch is back as a volunteer working cold cases for the San Fernando Police Department and is called out to a local drug store where a young pharmacist has been murdered. Bosch and the town's 3-person detective squad sift through the clues, which lead into the dangerous, big business world of pill mills and prescription drug abuse.Meanwhile, an old case from Bosch's LAPD days comes back to haunt him when a long-imprisoned killer claims Harry framed him, and seems to have new evidence to prove it. Bosch left the LAPD on bad terms, so his former colleagues aren't keen to protect his reputation. He must fend for himself in clearing his name and keeping a clever killer in prison. The two unrelated cases wind around year, across the world, dealing with crises in Ukraine, each other like strands of barbed wire. Along the way New York, or Capitol Hill, or Kyiv, or Baghdad "Joe, kind that sets you free and the kind that leaves you I need your help" he responded. For twelve months, buried in darkness.

CAN YOU BEQUEATH YOUR FREQUENT FLYER MILES?

If you're a frequent airline traveler, one of your estate planning concerns may be what will happen to your accumulated miles once you're gone. They could be worth thousands of dollars, so you probably don't want them to just disappear, but some airline policies say that's exactly what will happen.

The law doesn't consider airline miles assets that can be bequeathed directly to heirs, but there are still some steps you can take to help ensure your miles live on. It all starts with examining the airline policies in question.

Airline Policies Regarding the Transfer of Frequent Flyer Miles

Some relevant policies include:

American Airlines AAdvantage: "Neither accrued mileage, nor award tickets, nor status, nor upgrades are transferable by the member (i) upon death . . . . However, American Airlines, in its sole discretion, may credit accrued mileage to persons specifically identified in court approved divorce decrees and wills upon receipt of documentation satisfactory to American Airlines and upon payment of any applicable fees."

Delta Airlines SkyMiles: "Except as specifically authorized in the Membership Guide and Program Rules or otherwise in writing by an officer of Delta, miles may not be . . . transferred under any circumstances, including . . . upon death. . . .

Southwest Airlines Rapid Rewards: "Points may not be transferred to a Member's estate or as part of a settlement, inheritance, or will. In the event of a Member's death, his/her account will become inactive after 24 months from the last earning date (unless the account is requested to be closed) and points will be unavailable for use."

United Airlines MileagePlus: "In the event of the death or divorce of a Member, United may, in its sole discretion, credit all or a portion of such Member's accrued mileage to authorized persons upon receipt of documentation satisfactory to United and payment of applicable fees."

As you can see, policy terms vary, and they may vary even further depending on your agent. information.

Airfarewatchdog.com has found differences between written policies and what customer service representatives told them over the phone—a discrepancy that played out in the story of Kathe Holmes, who successfully claimed her late husband's Alaska Airlines miles with minimal effort and no additional fees, even though that seemed to go against official policy.

How to Transfer Miles After Death

The main takeaway is that although airline policies may say they don't allow miles transfers after death, employees often have the discretion to approve them. Still, there's no sure way to know whether your airline will work with your loved ones regarding the transfer of your miles.

One way to better ensure your miles get transferred is to include a provision in your will that makes your wishes clear. This step is especially important if your airline requires a copy of a will as documentation, but it can be helpful in any event.

Another option is to leave your account number, login and password to the person you would like to be able to use your miles. Some airlines permit such transfers and usage of miles after the account holder's death.

In either scenario, you should talk to your loved ones about your intentions so they know to pursue the issue in your absence. Also, if you're the one trying to claim miles of a deceased person, you should understand the airline's policies before offering information about the account holder's death, as the account could be cancelled immediately, leaving you with no recourse.

Final Thought on Frequent Flyer Miles

Frequent flyer policies can change at the whim of the airlines even as you are living, so another idea to keep in mind is to use the miles now and create experiences with your loved ones rather than plan to pass the miles on later. In doing so, you can be absolutely sure your miles aren't lost; an added bonus is that you can also share moments none of you will ever forget.

If you have any concerns about frequent flyer miles, contact our office, and always be sure to include all your assets, even your airline miles accounts, when discussing wills, trusts, and estate plans with your

IMPROVING YOUR ROI

With approximately six weeks left until the calendar computer, accounting software (i.e. Quickbooks) rolls over to a new year, it is a good time to check the status of the return on investment (ROI) for your business. This performance measurement provides feedback that can help you make the adjustments to get off to a great start in 2018.

How profitable is your business? What is your bottomline for 2017 (revenue minus expenses, minus taxes)? What are your total sales for the year? Total expenses? Most importantly, what is the return on your investment (ROI) for the amount of money, time, energy and talent that you have put into your business - in other words how much profit are you making for each dollar of resources that you spend? The ROI is one of the common performance measurements used in business. The formula to calculate ROI is illustrated below:

Where is your ROI in comparison to industry standards? Does the return meet your standards? It should be sufficient to covers all expenses and leave enough profit for you to pay yourself, with money left over for savings and investments into your personal coffers.

related to your profitability, it is imperative that you take time to put a proper recordkeeping and accounting system in place. A good system will put you in the driver's seat to observe what tools needed to establish a good system include a operations.

and a printer. If you don't have the aptitude or the time to master this set of tools, it's a matter of hiring someone with those skills. Minimally, you should learn how to review or generate information on sales and expense activities on a daily or weekly basis. Without the ability to monitor the realtime activities of sales and expenses, it is possible to find that your business has been operating at a loss in the face of having had a steady flow of cash over a period of time. If you are aware of the total number of customers or sales needed to "break even" or that certain services have to be limited due to how they impact your ROI, you can make adjustments or establish policies for your staff to follow.

By developing an understanding of what drives ROI, business owners are better equipped to make decisions about the mix of products, services and business activities that warrant time and energy. You'll be able to determine how to balance the two simultaneous methods of improving your bottom line: 1) By growing revenues, increasing sales by focusing on certain products, seasonal promotions, If you are not able to answer these questions etc. or 2) By increasing efficiency through costcutting measures. Business owners who take time to master business basics like understanding and paying attention to ROI measurements are better positioned to generate an impressive bottomline to is happening in your business in real time. ## VETERANS DAY BY THE NUMBERS

Note to editors: This column was originally distributed in 2015. "I had no idea that many men and women have served our country

"Ah, yes, you refer to Veterans Day facts and figures shared by the U.S. Census Bureau. Did you know there are nearly 20 million U.S. veterans living today? Roughly half are 65 and older. Nearly 2 million are under the age of 35."

'That's interesting stuff. Those older than 65 served in World War II, Korea and Vietnam and the 2 million under 35 served mostly in Iraq and Afghanistan after 911?" You are correct. According to statistics released by the Department of Veterans Affairs, World War II vets are dying at a rate of approximately 492 a day. This means there are approximately only 855,070 veterans remaining of the 16 million who served our nation in World War II."

The greatest generation!"

"My father served in the Korean War. He is 82. Of the 5.7 million who served during that war, 2 million veterans are still with us."

'What about the Vietnam War?"

"Of the 8.7 million veterans who served in that horrific war, 7 million are still alive. To round out the numbers, 5.5 million veterans served during the Gulf War era, which spans 1990 to the present. Roughly 4.4 million veterans served during peacetime. Other veterans had it awfully tough."

"Nearly 63,000 living veterans served during the Vietnam War and both periods of the Gulf War. They served from August 1990 through August 2001 and then from September 2001 and God bless them for their service."

"Some of our living veterans served through three wartime periods! Nearly 37,000 served during World War II, the Korean War and the Vietnam War."

"The makeup of the armed services is changing as our demographics change. Though nearly 80 percent are 'non-Hispanic white,' nearly 12 percent are black, 6 percent are Hispanic, 1.5 percent are Asian and nearly 2.5 percent are Native Americans, Alaskans and Hawaiians."

What about women who serve? "Those numbers are growing, too. There are currently 1.6 million female veterans in our

'We are lucky to still have these men and women with us and the purpose of Veterans Day is to honor all of those who have served. But what about the people who gave the ultimate sacrifice for our country?"

"Did you know that nearly 1 million Americans have died for their country? Approximately 4,500 died during the American revolution."

"I did not know that. What about our bloody Civil War?"

"Bloody is the right word. Nearly 370,000 Union soldiers and 135,000 Confederate soldiers died during that war. We lost nearly 120,000 veterans in World War I and nearly 405,000 in World War II. The Korean War claimed 34,000 and the Vietnam War 48,000."

Those are sobering numbers."

"If there is any silver lining as far as war goes, it is that our modern war-fighting techniques and medical technologies are resulting in fewer battlefield deaths. Of the 2.7 million who have served in Afghanistan and Iraq, we have suffered more than 6,800 losses. However, more than 50,000 were wounded and many of them are still suffering from their disabilities."

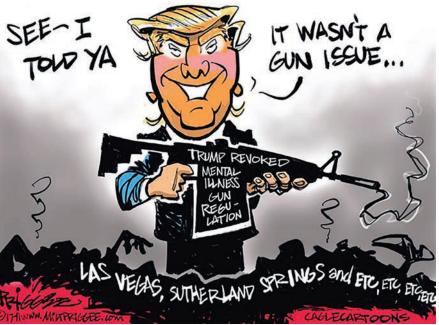

We need to do more to help our suffering veterans."

That is exactly what Veterans Day is about. It is a special day when we honor all of those who have served. It is also a great day to give back." "Give back?"

"We can volunteer at a local veterans' organization or provide financial support. CharityWatch.org has a list of legitimate organizations that provide help and resources to disabled veterans. I'm going to donate $50 now." "Now that's the kind of Veterans Day number I prefer!"

IT'S BEGINNING TO LOOK A LOT LIKE WATERGATE...

The initial grand jury indictments in special counsel Robert Mueller's investigation have dropped like a box of rocks and include something called "Conspiracy against the United States." It sounds like "fake news" the same way "flesh-eating bacteria" sounds like a prescription.

Conspiracy is only one of 12 charges filed against President Donald Trump's former campaign manager, Paul Manafort, who is also accused of moneylaundering, failing to register as a foreign agent, not paying taxes and being such a smug greedy SOB he makes Bernie Madoff look like a bleeding-heart, social worker who ministers sick puppies.

After pleading not guilty to all charges, both Manafort and his longtime business associate Rick Gates are under house arrest, with Mueller arguing they should be considered flight risks, because both have huge amounts of money, the charges are severe and Manafort has a pattern of lying like a rug in his sleep. His haircut alone represents an extreme threat to public safety.

Apparently the Justice Department is worried the guy might try running back to the Ukraine where he still has a bunch of good buddies and possible safety deposit boxes full of rubles and hryvnias. Because what happens in Kiev stays in Kiev, except, of course, when you're a big-time international money player with multiple passports and offshore accounts.

Lower down the food chain, a Trump foreign policy advisor, George Papadopoulos, pled guilty to lying to the FBI. He was arrested in July, and is described in charging documents as a proactive cooperator, which has everybody in the Trump administration wondering if he spent the last couple months playing that popular Justice Department game, "Dial a Co-Conspirator" while wearing a

The FBI's modus operandi traditionally offers peripheral players plea deals, encouraging them to turn on their bosses, then rinse and repeat; working inward like termites of justice until eroding the base and the kingpin falls. And you get the feeling the amateur circles surrounding this president would drop a dime on him faster than a sailor at a Carnival Midway the night before shipping out to the South

Conspiracy charges also allow prosecutors to hold each defendant responsible for the actions of others within the plot. And now that someone has pled guilty, the principals and vice-principals are starting to distrust everyone, including the family dog. Once everyone lawyers up, you have no idea what your colleagues are saying and the image of marching up courthouse steps with a trench coat draped over your handcuffs starts to loom large.

Three House Republicans introduced a resolution calling for Mueller to recuse himself and spokesperson Sarah Huckabee Sanders says the official White House position is the investigation is winding down but that sounds like wishful thinking: a malady that afflicts most politicians, but these folks seem especially susceptible to simple syndromes. Just look at the epidemic of Russian Amnesia sweeping through the administration like kindergarten cooties.

Right now members of Team Trump have to be quaking like a Richter Scale in the back of a moving van with bad shocks speeding over railroad tracks in a quarry. Mostly because, as the Carpenters legendarily told us, "We have only just begun." Or maybe more like that holiday classic, "It's beginning to look a lot like Watergate."

FAKE NEWS FROM VIRGINIA

Will someone please throw an ocean of ice water on the Pelosi-Schumer-MSM axis of evil?

Their ecstasy over the results in Virginia's election returns Tuesday night shows how desperate the Democrats are for any sign of hope that their party is not already dead.

Democrats merely won the elections for governor in Virginia and New Jersey - two Blue States where they were always expected to win.

It was hardly a "wave election." Republicans suffered no surprise losses to Democrats and the GOP still controlled a huge majority of the country's governor's offices and state legislatures. Yet by Wednesday morning the liberal media's talking heads were so happy you'd have thought President Trump had been voted out of office, the Democrats had won back Congress and Hillary Clinton had been installed on her Oval Office throne.

Republicans loses in Virginia and New Jersey were gleefully framed by the liberal media as referendums on President Trump's first year, but it was Fake News.

It would have been real news if the Republican governor candidates, Ed Gillespie of Virginia and Kim Guadagno of New Jersey, had pulled off surprise wins. Or if a liberal Democrat had taken the Congressional seat vacated by conservative Jason Chaffetz in Utah (instead of being crushed by a Republican who didn't vote for Trump in 2016

But the pundits breathlessly telling us a Democrat won in Virginia and New Jersey? News? Yes. Shocking? Hardly.

A serious repudiation of Donald Trump? The first signs of the decline of Trumpism? Don't think so. Trump or no Trump, from day one Ed Gillespie was never going to win in Virginia, where about 10 million federal workers live and vote Democratic. And in New Jersey, a true-blue state, the only Republican politician who was repudiated on Tuesday was Mr. Unpopularity himself, outgoing Gov. Chris Christie. His Lt. Governor, Guadagno, never had a prayer - and she wasn't endorsed by Trump, who

I can understand the Democrats and their media soulmates wanting to make Tuesday's elections into a fake referendum on President Trump. But I don't understand the Republicans and conservatives who joined in and said the elections were a sign of doom for the GOP in the 2018 elections. Republicans will have their problems in 2018, especially if they can't get anything important through Congress. But this week's election results had nothing to do with 2018 or President Trump - until he tweeted himself into the story. Unfortunately, despite being in Asia, our narcissist in chief had to blame Gillespie's loss on the fact that Gillespie didn't fully embrace him.

Not everything is about Donald Trump, but he - like the hate-blinded media - thinks it is. Some facts about Virginia, Mr. President:

Hillary beat you there by 5 points last year. On Tuesday Gillespie got more votes than you did, but Democrats turned out in much greater numbers in the suburbs of northern Virginia. That's why the former head of the Republican National Committee lost - as everyone but his kids knew he would. For you to blame Gillespie's defeat on his not embracing you is totally narcissistic, childish and wrong, Mr. President. Not to mention self-destructive. Instead of the media discussing the tough speech you gave to the North Koreans, they talked about your Gillespie tweet.

How about acting like a grown-up president, for a change, Mr. Trump? How about tweeting something like, "Congratulations to the Democrats for their victories on Tuesday. When I come back from Asia I hope we can find a way to work together on tax

So Trump is still Trump. His core constituency will stay faithful to him, no matter what he said about Gillespie or how he said it.

But if he keeps tweeting the way he does, the president will never win more friends in the

And if he's ever going to get anything passed in Congress by 2018, he's going to need every Republican friend he can get.
