SIERRA MADRE MAYOR TO RUN FOR LOS ANGELES COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

lawyer and community activist, today announced his candidacy for Supervisor of Los Angeles County District 5. John brings to the campaign wide-ranging experiences in public service and civic leadership – from serving as a Los Angeles County Deputy District Attorney, a state commissioner, and currently as the Mayor of the City of Sierra Madre. He pairs this firsthand experience with a fresh vision and new solutions for the County's most pressing issues.

"As County Supervisor, my priorities will be solving homelessness once and for all, reforming our criminal justice system, and protecting our environment and natural resources so that future generations - including my two young sons – will be able to thrive," says John. "I will fight to improve the quality of life for all County residents, but especially the most vulnerable, includ-

> John represents a new generation of leadership, recognizing that we need new, smarter and more forward-thinking strategies to address the County's biggest challenges, not the same old promises with no results. John believes in eliminating the corrupting influence of big money from our democracy and listening to the people rather than special interests.

> John currently represents Sierra Madre on the Clean Power Alliance and on the Los Angeles County Sanitation District, bodies which tackle County-wide needs in transportation and citizen services. He lives in Sierra Madre with his wife and two sons.

PUBLIC HEALTH INVESTIGATES FIRST DEATH ASSOCIATED WITH E-CIGARETTES IN LA COUNTY

Residents warned to take precautions

LOS ANGELES—Following a recent death of a Los Angeles County resident potentially related to the use of e-cigarettes, the Los Angeles County Department of Public Health is issuing a warning to residents about the use of these devices as potentially harmful to proper lung function. To date, there have been 12 reports of vaping-associated pulmonary injury (VAPI) in Los Angeles

"Nationwide, we are learning how dangerous these devices may be, and the long-term health impacts remain unknown at this time," said Dr. Muntu Davis, MD, MPH, Los Angeles County Health Officer. "As their popularity rises, especially among teens and young adults, we are compelled to warn our 10 million residents that the risks of using these devices, with or without nicotine, marijuana, CBD or some street concoction, may ment of Public Health at 626-299-3504. now include severe lung injury."

are showing up in emergency departments with similar symptoms such as coughing, difficulty breathing, fever, and may have vomiting and diarrhea.

"The increasing cases of severe pulmonary illnesses associated with vaping both nationwide and locally in Los Angeles County are alarming and underscores how much we still don't know about the extent of harm that vaping can cause," said Dr. Steven Dubinett, Associate Vice Chancellor of UCLA and Chief of Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine at the UCLA David Geffen School of Medicine. "We join Public Health, the medical community, and other health professionals in warning residents about the use of these devices and the need for a concerted effort to address this outbreak."

"The bottom line is everyone should think twice about vaping until more is known about their impacts on the health of their users, and the role they play as a contributor to lung damage leading to death," Davis added.

Public Health continues to urge healthcare providers to be on the alert for signs of severe respiratory illness among patients who recently used vaping products including e-cigarettes and report cases

Electronic cigarettes or e-cigarettes are There are nationwide reports that people battery-powered devices that heat a liquid substance (e-liquid or e-juice) that contains nicotine, flavorings, and other additives and deliver the nicotine and flavoring to the user in the form of an aerosol ("smoke"). WALKING SIERRA MADRE - The Social Side by Deanne Davis

"If we learn nothing else from this tragedy, we learn that life is short and there is no time for hate.

—Sandy Dahl, wife of Flight 93 pilot Jason Dahl, in Shanksville, Pennsylvania, in 2002

"...Names of citizens, workers, mothers and fathers, The bright-eyed daughter, the quick son. Names lifted from a hat or balanced on the tip of the tongue. Names wheeled into the dim warehouse of memory. So many names, there is barely room on the walls of the heart.' Excerpts from "The Names"

by Billy Collins after 9/11

So, another anniversary of 9/11 is this Wednesday and, like December 7, 1941, this is another 'date which will live in infamy.' Almost 3,000 people died on 9/11. I remember vividly where I was when I heard the news; home sitting on the couch drinking coffee. John had been out running and bumped into one of his fellow runners who told him what had happened. He raced home, told me and I turned on the TV. I couldn't believe my eyes as the video of the plane crashing into the World Trade Center was played over and over. The following piece came from my heart just a day or two later: 9/11 - The Day Our World Changed Forever

September 11, 2001...a Tuesday. Nothing particularly special or interesting about it, except that three airplanes have been hijacked. Two of them were crashed into the World Trade Center Towers in New York and one was crashed into the Pentagon Another plane crashed outside of Pittsburgh and it, too, was hijacked by terrorists. Todd Beamer will live on in our memories as an amazing hero. We won't soon forget his, "Let's Roll!" as he and others on that plane tried to save everyone on board.

I watched the World Trade Towers fall to their knees, implode, and collapse into dust and debris. I was reminded of the Temple in Jerusalem, which was going to stand forever, and just seventy years after Jesus came to save mankind from our sins, not one stone was left standing on another.

On Tuesday, 9/11, thousands of people died and were standing before God's throne. People who had intended to live many more years, who had plans for their lives, children to raise, homes to buy, 40lK plans to augment, maybe even plans to get to know God as their Savior. But now there was a long line of people suddenly finding themselves before God Almighty, some prepared, some not. Once again, I realized there's no time to waste, we are but a heartbeat away from seeing God face to face. I want to be ready, my soul clean, my heart ready, my affairs in order. My affairs aren't based on my worldly things, but whether I've set everything straight with those I love, that I've set everything straight with God,

It was a sunny, pleasant day, this Tuesday when our world changed forever, and watching the coverage in New York, it seemed to be a beautiful day there, too. How can people hate so much to want to murder thousands of people they've never even seen? It brings me to my knees to realize that evil is on every side. But God will overcome all this. He is stronger than all the evil, all the hate, all the terrorism. He is GOD. I will keep my eyes on Him in the midst of this shock that never goes away. I will lift my prayers to Him, asking for comfort for those who have lost loved ones, for those who will have to somehow clear up this disaster and carry on, for those who waited too long to decide. ".....and there will be wars and rumors of wars...."

Something else happened on 9/11, but this was 9/11/2008, when Jessie came into our family. Ten months old, a foster child who badly needed a home. The picture is her adoption a year or so later. A day of celebration. She is 11 now, not without problems, but she is our joy.

Speaking of joy, congratulations to Susan Henderson for another wonderful year of the Mountain Views News. It is my joy to be able to write this column every week. You are doing a great job, Susan! Keep on keeping on!

DINNER AT 30,000

I hope you had an exciting, newsworthy week. Mine was fine, but couldn't be described using either of those adjectives. Shucks. Good thing I have my mom's friend, Florence, for times like these. Specifically Florence's daughter this week. Can't remember if I've written about her before. We'll Lori, like Florence, goes in for thrills. She and Florence slid down that clear fiberglass slide attached to the outside of an LA sky scraper a few months ago. More recently, Lori and her husband did "Dinner in the Sky" in London.

For the uninitiated, including myself, Dinner in the Sky is everything the name implies. A group of about 20 people get strapped in at a table, served by harnessed chefs, all suspended from a crane 50 meters above the ground. If that doesn't get your taste buds revving, I don't know what will. This was all the brainchild of Belgian companies Hakuna Matata and The Fun Group, the latter specializing in incorporating cranes into, you guessed it, fun. Like, "Amusement parks are fun, but they'd be so much more so with cranes!" This duo has put on all sorts of exciting events at shockingly great heights above the pavement --weddings, corporate meetings, piano concerts, opera, poker games, even movie showings ('cause you know if you're prepared to splash out that kinda' cash, you can afford to look at the screen and not the view). One intriguing item involved French can-can dancers. I understand that the chefs are harnessed within an inch of their lives, and I assume the dancers would be, too. Not sure exactly how all that would work with spinning around, bending over, and kicking up your heels... But as far as I know, Lori and her husband just did dinner. And really, at 50 meters, dinner should be enough of a thrill in itself. It does sound exciting, but at the end of the day, I'd say better her than me. My husband and I aren't big fans of heights, nor are we the kind of people who easily make small talk with strangers for hours at a time.

Of course this is the sort of event where you'd want to go with a big group of friends. But you wouldn't expect the kind of people who are intimidated by small talk to have a group of friends that size. All I can say is if you can afford to do this kind of thing, and you have a friend base who can afford to do it with you, you're all doing something right.

But it's not just the small talk I'd have a problem with. This arrangement brings up all sorts of possible snags. What if you have to go to the bathroom? What if you drop your fork? What if there are high winds that day? Heck, what if there's rain! I'm sure they plan for all these scenarios, but still.

Apart from all that, I'd say the biggest drawback to simply enjoying the experience would be the elaborate harness. "Dinner in the Sky" reassures us that safety is their top priority. That's reassuring. But at the same time, I don't know how comfortable it'd be to have all your movements constrained by straps and Maybe if I were to ever do something like this I'd practice at home first, with a couple belts strapped across my torso and interwoven through a dining room chair. At least the Dinner in the Sky chairs swivel. Maybe I'd use a computer chair.

But more likely not. Not only 'cause we don't have the money for that kind of stuff. Mostly just because we're introverts. And introverts by nature aren't thrill-seekers. At least none of the introverts I know.

* Speaking of thrills, check out my novel, "A Year at Apex!" Just kidding, it's not a thriller. But it's got humor, romance, the human condition, and public education. Just the kind of thing that's perfect for you and the educator in your life. Paperback and ebook available on Amazon and Barnes & Noble.

NTbe Ath Annual Scarcerow Festival September - October in Sierra Madre

The Scarecrows Are Coming The shortened days and lengthening shadows portend the transition from summer into all things autumnal. Before the pumpkins are carved, the leaves are raked and the masquerade begins, crows begin to descend on our fair village and reside on low-hanging branches, on top of walls, and along fences in places high and low. A scourge to some, at Creative Arts Group we prefer to pay homage to these raucous ebony-winged messengers, inviting all Sierra Madreans to join in the festivities by creating scarecrows to be vigilant gate-keepers and take their place along the streets and alleys, in front of homes, businesses, schools, churches and shops. Although fire season is really Altadena, Pasadena, last week, two Canadian CL-415 Super-Scoopers returned to LA County for the 26th year to help fight fires. They will be on loan for 90 days.

The Scoopers carry 1,600 gallons of water, at one time, and can reload in 12 seconds to extinguish fires rapidly.

LA County Fire Chief Daryl Osby said there are three areas in the county they can pick up water from, the closest to Pasadena is in Pomona.

The Huntington Updates Name, Adds 'Museum'

The institution formerly known as The Huntington Library, Art Collections, and Botanical Gardens announced today that it has changed its name to The Huntington Library, Art Museum, and Botanical Gardens. The change from "collections" to "museum" was made to more accurately describe the institution's mission and programs, said Huntington President Karen R. Lawrence.

Our art collections are more than a group of catalogued objects; they are carefully curated, interpreted, and exhibited for scholarship, education, and the broader exhibited public," Lawrence said, making the announcement at today's added benefit to this change is that we become more discoverable, particularly in online searches. This is important as we work to widen our audiences and accessibility."

The name change takes effect immediately, rolling out as a part of The Huntington's Centennial Celebration, a yearlong series of exhibitions, public programs, and new initiatives running from now to September 2020. See Page 3 for

BREEDERS' CUP RETURNS TO SANTA ANITA DEL MAR ENDS GREAT MEET

By Joan Schmidt

So much news! Del Mar's 36 Day Meet ended with no fatalities. Flavien Pratt was top jockey with 42 wins; Drayden Van Dyke, 32; Abel Cedillo, 25; Joe Talamo, 23; Ruben Fuentes, 22; Rafael Bejarano, 19; Victor Espinosa, 16; and Apprentice Jorge Velez, 14.

During this Meet, there were several exciting Stakes Races. Flavien won on Encoder, Square Deal, and my favorite, Vasilika; Drayden won on Bast. Victor won the $300,000 Bing Crosby Stakes. Exactly one year ago, he broke his neck, and was almost paralyzed during training. Victor's determination and hard rehab enabled his return. Many thought he'd retire, but Victor is not a quitter and still donates a percentage of his earnings to the City of Hope Pediatric Cancer Research.

During the Meet, Johnny Velazquez and Joel Rosario came from back East and won some important races. We were happy to see Norberto Arroyo win on Nucky in the Del Mar Futurity on closing day. Congrats to trainer, Peter Miller.

Friday, September 6, begins the Fairplex Thoroughbred Meet at Los Alamitos. Races begin at 1pm, Fridays-Sundays; closing day, September 22. Then Santa Anita opens Friday, September 27 -Sunday, November 3. Please visit www.santaanita.

The Breeders' Cup returns to Santa Anita, Friday, Nov. 1 and Sat. Nov. 2! Can you believe General Admission tickets are being offered for both days, November 1 and 2? You can go online in advance: Friday is $15; Saturday, $25. You do not receive a ticket for a seat, but have accessibility to the Infield and Apron. It's going to be an exciting series, with top jockeys and horses from not only the United States, but the whole world! Please visit www.breederscup.com/tickets. Also there are still some very good seats available in addition to the General Admission Tickets.

The Breeders' Cup features 14 Championship Races worth $30 million in purses and awards. Its return to Santa Anita is a record 10th time. In addition to the races, Clockers Corners is open in the AM for a fabulous breakfast and see some horses work out! See you there.

ARCADIA'S EXPERIENCE PORTENDS A SIGNIFICANT FUTURE ISSUE WITH PASADENA HUMANE SOCIETY, AS COST INCREASES OF NEARLY 600% ARE BEING PUSHED ONTO CONTRACTING AGENCIES!

Just a quick FYI on an animal control topic currently brewing ... there is a lot of angst in the San Gabriel Valley regarding the way in which the Pasadena Humane Society (PHS) is approaching their planned implementation of significant rate increases for animal control services. Currently, Monrovia isn't impacted by the possible changes, as our existing contract with PHS locks in our existing cost structure (~$120k / year) for the next two years through 2021. However, we should begin thinking about how to address this issue now, especially given the experience that other jurisdictions have been subject to.

The latest example of the issues associated with working with PHS comes from Arcadia. My understanding is that Arcadia has had two meetings with PHS which were both contentious, and in both instances, PHS had trouble addressing very basic questions related to significant planned cost increases.

How significant, you ask?

Well... how about a 578% cost increase?

It appears that Arcadia has historically been paying around

CALIFORNIA VETERANS WILL NO LONGER NEED TO PAY ADOPTION FEES AT ANIMAL SHELTERS

SACRAMENTO, CA - Following strong bipartisan support, Governor Newsom signed Senate Bill 245, authored by Senator Ling Ling Chang (R-Diamond Bar), which calls on animal shelters throughout the state to waive pet adoption fees for military veterans. California is home to two million military veterans, including many who struggle to cope with Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) and a companion animal could be beneficial with their recovery efforts.

"This is a big win for veterans and shelter animals," said Senator Chang. "As the saying goes, a dog is a 'man's best friend.' When I'm home my four-legged companions are a part of my family. Buster and Pepper bring me joy and laughter and I benefit from the positive effects of their companionship. Our brave heroes deserve the same happiness, and I'm glad we can reduce the barriers for bringing together veterans seeking companion animals and pets in need of a home.'

Under SB 245, the process for confirming an eligible veteran by a shelter would be streamlined by using the state's existing "VETERAN" driver's license designation. This law is effective January 1, 2020.

Since Senator Chang's tenure, she has advocated on behalf of veterans and shelter animals with other legislation that are on their way to the governor's desk for his signature. She co-authored Assembly Bill 427 which would exempt military retirement pay from state income tax for veterans who are residents in California, and introduced Senate Bill 64 which would require a microchip be implanted in all dogs and cats at an animal shelter before they are released.

$90k / year to PHS for animal control services. Without any detailed explanation, PHS is now telling Arcadia that the exact same service level will now cost around $525k / year!

From $90k / year to $525k / year! In one year!

PHS has been rolling this new cost structure out to other contracting agencies in the SGV, and La Canada and Bradbury were the first two cities to address this issue with PHS during the past few months. Those jurisdictions, like Arcadia, reported that the PHS has been employing a negotiating approach that is short on details regarding why costs are increasing so dramatically.

All of this points to a need to begin looking at alternate options. Unfortunately, when it comes to animal control, there are not many other service providers to contract with (LA County is basically the only other option available), and given that factor, a number of cities are now talking about meeting to discuss possible response options, including a separate regional animal control JPA. With the cost structure being proposed by PHS, it could likely make financial sense to move in that direction, and there are currently staff level conversations being planned with several cities, including Arcadia, La Canada, Bradbury, Sierra Madre, South Pasadena, San Marino, Pasadena, and Monrovia.

We will be certain to keep everyone apprised of our efforts moving ahead!

SEPTEMBER IS PEDESTRIAN SAFETY MONTH

September is Pedestrian Safety Month and California continues to see more and more pedestrians getting injured or killed on roads. In 2016, 867 pedestrians were killed and more than 14,000 injured in California alone. A report (external GHSA PDF link) released earlier this year by the Governors Highway Safety Association (GHSA) projected that more than 6,200 pedestrians were killed in the United States last year, the highest number since 1990.

Despite advancements in vehicle technology that increase the chance of survival for drivers and passengers in crashes, pedestrians face the same amount of risk of getting seriously injured or killed when struck by a vehicle

JUST FOR YOU!

NORTH STAR REACHES HASTINGS RANCH

Growing up in Athens, Greece gave me a strong fondness for Middle Eastern food. No matter if it's Lebanese, Greek, Armenian, or Turkish, if you can pronounce kebab, feta or babaganoush, I salute you! As you know by now I love neighborhood restaurants - heck you might say I am your neighbor! Today I visited Raffi's Grill in the Hastings Ranch area of Pasadena. I'll say this out of the gate that Raffi's is that little neighborhood restaurant that you wish was just down the street from you. Fortunately, if you're reading this in Sierra Madre it is!

You won't find belly dancers or people breaking plates here, just unassuming, clean, friendly service with honest, fresh, and good food. You might think by the murals decorating the walls that this is bare bones, but if you ask for a description of the murals our server can describe each on to a T. And, speaking of servers, our server Salpi is 100% Lebanese and I fondly remember her from the now-closed Burger Continental.

The kitchen is masterfully run by Sona Fournouzian. She is always in the kitchen, and if she not here well, the restaurant simply isn't opened. I was amazed how large the kitchen is considering the size of the dining room. I am told they do a big catering business and that makes sense.

Many happy are diners here and I am one of them. What to order? The Feast, of course! Go with a party of at least four people and you will feel like you are in someone's home. Try the tahini, hummus, or babaganoush as starters. Make sure you get the Greek Salad and ask for extra feta cheese. For entrees I suggest the kebabs, including lule and chicken. The real deal is the lamb chops – everyone at my table agreed that they were the "best" of the best. With so many good things to order, check it out

DANGERS OF SECONDHAND SMOKE FROM MARIJUANA

I'm allergic to marijuana smoke. When I first smell it nearby, I think it's the smell of a skunk that got hit by a car. Then, I quickly realize, no, not a skunk, just someone getting high. If I see them, I walk over, and ask, politely, "Can you please go somewhere else? I'm allergic to your smoke." The first kneejerk reaction is nearly always, "Hey, it's legal." And my response, "I wasn't talking legal. I said your smoke is bothering me." And then, I often am able to add, "And how old are you? 16? I don't think it's legal for you, and I don't think it's legal to smoke in this public place," whereupon the person usually disappears in a huff.

I'm not a fan of getting high, or doing anything that impairs my ability to function and to think as clearly as possible. But that's a subject for another day.

If you wish to smoke marijuana, that's your business. However, just like non-tobacco smokers don't wish to have tobacco smoke in their breathing-air, non-marijuana smokers don't care for marijuana smoke either. Did you know that marijuana second-hand smoke has many risk factors, just like tobacco?

For example, secondhand marijuana smoke contains many of the same cancer-causing substances and toxic chemicals as secondhand tobacco smoke. Some of the known carcinogens or toxins present in marijuana smoke include: acetaldehyde, ammonia arsenic, benzene, cadmium, chromium, formaldehyde, hydrogen cyanide, isoprene, lead, mercury, nickel, and quinoline. Marijuana smoke contains tetrahydrocannabinol (THC), the active chemical in cannabis, so, yes, "contact high" is a very real thing.

And there are specific health risks of exposure to secondhand marijuana smoke. Secondhand smoke from combusted marijuana contains fine particulate matter that can be breathed deeply into the lungs, which can cause lung irritation, asthma attacks, and makes respiratory infections more likely. Exposure to fine particulate matter can exacerbate health problems especially for people with respiratory conditions like asthma, bronchitis, or COPD.

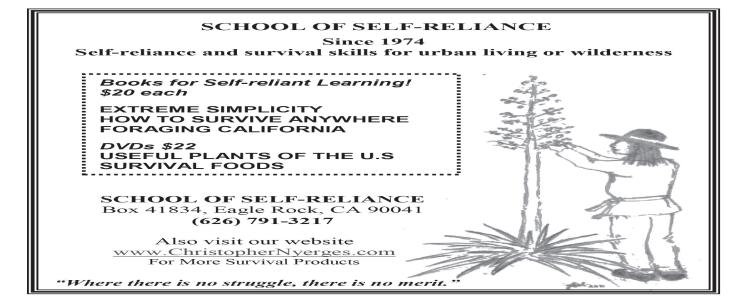

Significant amounts of mercury, cadmium, nickel, lead, hydrogen cyanide, and chromium are in marijuana smoke. Three times the amount of ammonia is found in marijuana smoke compared to tobacco smoke.

In general, secondhand smoke from marijuana has many of the same chemicals as smoke from tobacco, including those linked to lung cancer, harmful cardiovascular health effects, such as atherosclerosis (partially blocked arteries), heart attack, and stroke. Tobacco is a legal drug, and no one has ever claimed that there are no detrimental health effects from smoking it. Now, it's the same with marijuana. Don't fool yourself and believe that there are no health effects from marijuana merely because the laws have been relaxed.

Just like non-tobacco smokers have a right to be free of smoke in public and work places, we should also insist upon that same condition with marijuana, legal or not. If you don't like marijuana smoke in your public atmosphere, just speak up. Ask the person to smoke

For the record, I am of the opinion that the excessive use of alcohol is far worse for the body and mind than marijuana, simply based on the totality of available evidence. The fact that alcohol is legal and will probably always be legal means that for you to suffer no harm, you have to take great personal responsibility for your own health -- the health of your mind and your body.

Thanks to the American Nonsmokers' Rights Foundation, from which many of these facts were derived.

ARCADIA UNIFIED'S KARALEE NAKATSUKA NAMED CALIFORNIA HISTORY TEACHER OF THE YEAR

ARCADIA-- Arcadia Unified history teacher Karalee Nakatsuka recently made her own history. Of the tens of thousands of history teachers throughout California, Nakatsuka, who teaches at First Avenue Middle School, was named the 2019 California History Teacher of the Year and top ten finalist for the National History Teacher of the Year award by the Gilder Lehrman Institute of American History. There was standing room only in First Avenue Middle School's auditorium on Friday, Sept. 6, as Nakatsuka's students, family, friends, and colleagues gathered to celebrate Nakatsuka for a ceremony in recognition of her esteemed accomplishment. Bouncing off the walls were roars of applause and cheers of support from a sea of green that filled the seats (Nakatsuka's favorite color and a color that represents her passion for frogs and frog-tastic puns).
"My mission as a U.S. History teacher is to educate the whole child by making history come alive so students learn the lessons of the past in order to inform the decisions of today and plan and prepare for tomorrow," said Nakatsuka while reflecting on this esteemed distinction in an award ceremony in her honor on Friday, Sept. 6 in First Avenue Middle School's auditorium which was bursting at its seams with. "In my classroom, my goal is to establish a climate and a culture that encourages my students to be critical thinkers, effective collaborators, life-long learners and empathetic, informed citizens who care and contribute to society."

The ceremony stage saw Arcadia Unified's Board of Education members and Superintendent Dr. David Vannasdall as well as First Avenue Middle School Principal Dr. Semeen Issa, Arcadia Mayor April Verlato, and Gilder Lehrman Institute representative Jack Bareilles gathered together to share words, certificates, and other congratulatory tokens to celebrate Nakatsuka's commitment to her students, colleagues, and profession.

"Ms. Nakatsuka teaches important historical concepts in meaningful ways, opening the door for students to understand and engage with history and paving the way for rich conversation and interaction with the subject matter," shared Jack Bareilles, Gilder Lehrman Institute Representative, who made a trek all the way from Humboldt County to Arcadia to present Nakatsuka with her official Nakatsuka has been an educator in Arcadia Unified since 1990. She earned a B.A. in American Studies at Occidental College and has a Social Studies Credential and Master of Education degree from the University of California, Los Angeles.

In conjunction with Nakatsuka's recognition, First Avenue Middle School will receive a $1,000 honorarium as well as a core archive of American history books and Gilder Lehrman educational

The Gilder Lehrman Institute's History Teacher of the Year Award program seeks to illuminate the crucial importance of history education by honoring exceptional American history teachers from elementary school through high school. The award honors one K-12 teacher from each state, the District of Columbia, Department of Defense schools and US Territories. Nakatsuka has advanced as a top ten finalist from the pool of state winners being considered for the National History Teacher of the Year Award. A national winner will be named in a couple of weeks Bareilles said during his

The institute's National History Teacher of the Year will be presented with his or her recognition in New York City, scheduled for Oct. 2, 2019, and will be presented by John Avlon, Senior Political Analyst and anchor at CNN. In alignment with the prestige of the program, past ceremony presenters include the Honorable Sandra Day O'Connor, Good Morning America's Robin Roberts, First Lady Laura Bush, former US Secretary of Education Arne Duncan, and former New York City Mayor Michael Bloomberg.

FAMILY MATTERS By Marc Garlett

3 ESTATE PLANNING CONCERNS FOR MARRIED, SAME-GENDER COUPLES

Now that same-gender couples can legally marry in all 50 states, more Americans than ever before are enjoying the rights and benefits that come with marriage. Estate planning is one arena where these new rights and benefits are readily apparent.

While the planning vehicles available to same-gender and oppositegendermarried couples are generally the same, there are a few unique considerations those in same-gender marriages should be aware of. Here are three of the most important things to keep in mind.

Relying solely on a will is risky: For several reasons, putting a trust in place—rather than relying solely on will—is a good planning strategy for nearly everyone. Upon the death of one spouse, a will is required to go through the often long, costly, and conflict-ridden court process known as probate. However, assets passed through a trust go directly to the named beneficiaries without the need for probate.

What's more, a trust works in cases of both your death and incapacity, while a will only goes into effect upon death. Given this, it's usually best for those in any marriage to create trust based plans.

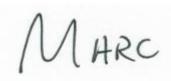

Don't neglect to plan for incapacity: Estate planning is not just about planning for your death; it's also about planning for your potential incapacity. Should you be incapacitated by illness or injury, it's not guaranteed that your spouse would have the ultimate legal authority to make key decisions about your medical treatment and finances.

Absent a plan for incapacity, it's left to the court to appoint the person who will make these decisions for you. Though spouses are typically given priority, this isn't always the case, especially if unsupportive the case is the cafamily members challenge the issue in court. To ensure your spouse has the authority to make decisions for you, you must grant him or her medical power of attorney and financial power of attorney.

Medical power of attorney gives your spouse the authority to make health-care decisions for you if you're incapacitated and unable to do so yourself. By the same token, financial power of attorney gives your spouse the authority to manage your financial affairs. And be sure to also create a living will, so that your spouse will know exactly how you want your medical care managed in the event of your incapacity.

Ensure parental rights are protected: While the biological parent of a child in a same-gender marriage is of course automatically granted parental rights, the non-biological spouse/parent still faces a number of legal complications. Because the Supreme Court has yet to rule on the parental rights of non-biological spouses/parents in a same-gender marriage, there is a tangled, oftencontradictory, web of state laws governing such rights.

To ensure the full rights of a non-biological parent, you may want to consider second-parent adoption. But, by using a variety of unique planning strategies, your Personal Family Lawyer can provide non-biological, same-gender parents with nearly all parental rights without going through adoption. Using our Kids Protection Plane, couples can name the nonbiological parent as the child's legal guardian, both for the short-term and the long-term, while confidentially excluding anyone the biological parent thinks may challenge their wishes.

HOME SHARING PROGRAMS CAN HELP SENIORS FIND RENTERS

Dear Savvy Senior:

What can you tell me about senior home sharing programs? I'm 76-years-old and am interested in renting out a spare room in my house for extra cash and for some help around the house. Senior Homeowner

Dear Senior:

Renting out a spare room in your house is a great way to generate some extra income and even get some help with chores around the house. To find a good fit, older homeowners often turn to "home sharing programs" that will match an empty nester with someone needing affordable

But be aware that home sharing isn't for everyone. You need to carefully consider the pros and cons of renting out a spare room in your house and make a list of what you want and don't want

To help you figure this out visit SharingHousing.com, a website dedicated to understanding home sharing and which offers a guide and workbook ($25) to help you find and choose a good housemate.

Finding a Match

If you decide to proceed in finding a housemate/renter, your first step is to seek out a home sharing program in your area.

Home sharing programs, usually non-profits, screen both homeowners and renters. They check references, handle background checks and consider lifestyle criteria when making matches. They can also help you with the leasing agreement that the renter would sign that covers detailed issues like smoking, pets, chores, overnight guests, use of common rooms, quiet hours, etc.

Most home sharing programs are free to use or request a small donation. Others, however, may charge the homeowner and potential renter a fee for this service. To look for a home sharing program in your area visit the National Shared Housing Resource Center website at NationalSharedHousing.org.

Other Options

If you don't find a program that serves your area, you can also search for housemates through an online home sharing service like Silvernest.com or SeniorHomeshares.com.

These sites work more like online dating sites that require homeowners and home seekers to fill out a profile. Once a match is made, you'll be responsible for contacting and interviewing prospective renters and making the final agreement.

If you don't have any luck with any of these home sharing sites, put a call in to your Area Agency on Aging (call the Eldercare Locator at 800-677-1116 for contact information) who may be able to offer assistance or refer you to local agencies or nonprofit organizations that offer shared housing help.

You can also check with your local senior or community center, or local church you attend to see if you can post an ad on their bulletin board or in their newsletter. Or, you can advertise in your local newspaper or online at CraigsList.org. SpareRoom.com or RoomMates.com.

If you find someone on your own that you're interested in renting to, ask the prospective renter to fill out a rental application (see RentalLeaseAgreement.org to download and print one for free) and run a tenant screening and background check, and then call their references. Tenant screening/background checks can be done for free at Naborly.com.

Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit SavvySenior.org. Jim Miller is a contributor to the NBC Today show and author of "The Savvy Senior" book.

A Weekly Religion Column by Rev. James Snyder

ing in the Parsonage for the last several months. At first, I did not think it too serious but alas, we have reached a terrible impasse. Quite frankly, I'm not exactly sure what to do. It started a few months ago when I came home, walked into the house and was hit in the face so hard I almost passed out. At the time, I was hoping I would pass out, but no such luck. I think everybody knows what it is like to be hit unexpectedly by something you do not actually expect. I guess that is why it is called unexpectedly. It happened to me and I am not sure I am over it yet. Even though I have been married 48 years, of which most has been happily, I did not see this one coming. Just when you think you have your spouse figured out, they do something off the radar. Every husband knows exactly what I am talking about. This makes it hard to buy Christmas and birthday presents. What they liked last year is not what they like this year. I remember buying my wife a watch one year for Christmas. She was so delighted that for the next four years I bought her a watch for Christmas. I do not hit the relationship lotto that often. How was I supposed to know she only wanted one watch!

I think we hit one of those impasses.

Walking into the house, I was hit with the horrific smell of broccoli cooking on the stove. I do not know if you ever smelled such a smell, but if you are not prepared for it and even if you are, it can smack you in the face like you have never been smacked in the

When I came to myself and gathered what little composure I could find, I queried the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage who was in the kitchen.

"What is that awful smell?"

"I don't know, have you taken a shower yet?"

After being married for 48 years, I know when to respond to a question and when not to. I knew if I responded to this question the way I wanted to, the smell of broccoli would be the least of my worries at

"No," I said, gathering a little bit of manliness about "Something in this house smells dreadful. I smelled it as soon as I walked in the door."

Then she chuckled. I hate it when she chuckles. "Oh, that must be the wonderful aroma of broccoli cooking on the stove. Isn't it marvelous?"

Adhering to my rules about questions, I tossed that one aside and opted for another one.

"You're not cooking broccoli for supper tonight, are you?'

A certain situation has been build- I was hoping she would catch my attitude of disdain and disgust in this question. Obviously, for whatever reason, she did not catch the drift.

> "Yes," she said as chipper as I have ever heard her chip, "I thought I would surprise you with a wonderful dish of broccoli for supper tonight, to go along with our pork chops."

> Can you live with a person for so long and not know what they like or do not like? Nobody has to be around me for five minutes before they will understand that broccoli and I have had a feud that has been going on since before the Hatfield's and McCoy's.

"But I thought you knew I do not like broccoli?"

"Oh, that," she said with another chuckle, "I just thought you were joking." Nobody jokes about broccoli, especially me.

Then a brilliant idea reverberated between my ears. I thought I could take advantage of this situation and sneak in something forbidden in our kitchen and house for that matter, a rare delicacy.

"I will then run to the store and get some fresh Apple Fritters for our dessert."

I figured if she wants to put in front of me broccoli the least she can do is allow me an Apple Fritter or two. In a moment, all the chipper drained from her person and looking at me said, "Apple Fritters are not allowed in this house." "Let's negotiate," I said as calmly as I have ever been in my life. "I will allow you to eat broccoli tonight if you allow me an Apple Fritter for my dessert." I wonder if there is a husband living today, that has ever successfully negotiated with his wife.

"This is how we will negotiate, we will have broccoli tonight without any Apple Fritter. I am only thinking of your health."

The way she glared at me, I knew negotiations were off the table now and in its place was some steaming broccoli. What I am going to do is sneak behind her back and eat two, not one, but two Apple Fritters and I will savor every bite. If only we could act like grownups, come together, voice our differences and strike a compromise. After all, our government works that way. I thought about this and came to a certain conclusion. The Christian life is not really negotiating your preference, but rather honoring Christ. Jesus said, "For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them" (Matthew 18:20).

When self is at the center of my negotiations, Christ is never honored.

40 YEARS IN THE CANYON

Long ago and far away I made a decision to move to Sierra Madre Canyon. I had a Law Office in El Monte and one day the smog cleared and I could see there were mountains to the north. I drove up Double Double Drive (Santa Anita to us now) and followed some car and found my way into the Canyon. This Canyon was a long way from El Monte and even further from Venice from where I was then commuting. If you don't know from Venice you should take a "trip" down there some time. That's my idea of a joke because at that time pot was a big deal in Venice. It was a place to get high with UCLA Basketball players and to go to the topless beach and to---enough about Venice, let's talk about Sierra Madre which I believe was developed by the same guy who developed the Venice Canals. One last word about Venice at that time there were signs that read "Keep Our Slum Clean". Now I think those same places are worth millions.

Back to Sierra Madre I followed some car up Mountain Trail and was overcome by the beautiful purple foliage of the Jacaranda which I'm still not sure how to pronounce or when they become purple. I thought if I lived here among this purple beauty I would never be unhappy again. Well, as you might have guessed, the foliage didn't stay purple and I didn't exactly avoid unhappiness. First of all that first year I remember it was incredibly hot, sort of like this summer, except that 40 years ago my house was a little cabin with a flat roof and I, and most other people did not have air conditioning. Can you imagine that—no air conditioning? I think that was why there were more people in the streets then except that the streets of the canyon were so different then. The houses were small 50 and sixty year old cabins with huge oak, cypress, and pepper trees around them. The roads were largely untraveled and there were no giant SUVs or ridiculously large delivery trucks on the road.

Along these roads were piles of dog feces and in the roads were sometimes packs of domestic dogs, unleashed but still loved in the 1970"s way. The main thing one noticed about the Canyon then was how quiet it was. It's not quiet anymore and no Canyonite would ever allow his or her dog to would walk the Canyon Circle unleashed and unaccompanied by an owner with a ready supply of doggie bags to do what must be done. Of course today there are no dog feces to be seen but more than occasionally there appear huge piles of seemingly smoking bear excretia and quite frequently there are huge bears strolling around. Really! We true Sierra Madreites live with the realization that this land of ours really belong to the animals and we co-exist with the bears, the deer, the raccoons, the coyotes, snakes and the occasional mountain lion that appear in front of our houses. Yes, really.

A mountain lion really ate the little dog that lived across the street that despite my warnings was often left unleashed. Oh I forgot to tell you about the huge land tortoises that live a few houses away in their own igloo shelter. My wife once played a heroic role when she chanced upon the large tortoise that that had been turned upon his back by a bear. I wasn't there but, from what I understand, my wife shooed the bear away and turned the tortoise over returning him to his usual position. At this same location the same bear or other bears had pulled the fish from the fish pond while hawks had somehow attacked the aviary and devoured or at least disturbed the finches. The birds are still flying around over the canyon and the owls and annoying parrots that used to be in regular attendance are rarely seen for which we are all grateful. The parrots were absurdly annoying and I observed them flying near the dogs in the back yard next door while imitating dog sounds just to annoy the loyal and normally docile pets. What else is semi-annoying is the new crop of young children that have appeared in the canyon. For a long time there were no children around at all and this summer there seem to be a huge herd of very young kids riding up and down the streets on their scooters and trikes and bikes. None of these kids walk to school but instead are driven to school by their parents. The parents seem unconcerned about the kids racing up and down the streets(of course they are all colorfully helmeted) but it is now considered unsafe for the kids to walk to School or take busses as they did for decades.

A final word about the houses. At one time all the residences were small cabins but over the four decades that I have been here the cabins have been torn down and enlarged to become multi-storied edifices blocking the neighbor's view. These large residences at one time housed two parent families with multiple offspring. Now as the children age and go off to college and divorce occurs the large places often have only one person in them. What am I doing complaining about there being too many under-occupied homes and there being too many children at the same time.

Well, what can I tell you? I've gotten old and irritable but still want to scream at the top of my lungs, I LOVE THE CANYON and would not want to live anywhere else (unless perhaps you can find a place overlooking the ocean in Palos Verdes where you can see and hear the passing migrating whales. My wife's friends live in a place like that and I can't stop thinking about it.) A final word about the Canyon, I can now hear the tortoises mating and the kids applauding. What a wonderful place to be.

NERVOUS TRUMP TURNS BACK TO HIS FAILED BORDER WALL

with Mexico.

President Donald Trump wants a wall. It just may not be the one his supporters thought they signed up for back in 2016.

Already walled off from the truth and effectively blockaded from reality, Trump has been apparently unable to construct a barrier high enough to ward off four Democratic 2020 hopefuls who led him by double digits in a Quinnipiac University poll this week.

The Connecticut-based university's latest canvass showed former Vice President Joe Biden and senators Bernie Sanders, Elizabeth Warren, and Kamala Harris respectively holding 16-, 14-, 12-, and 11-point advantages in hypothetical match-ups.

So, it wasn't at all surprising to see Trump, likely in response, ratcheting up his demands to finish his long-promised wall at America's southern border

The administration is "[fast-tracking] billions of dollars' worth of construction contracts, aggressively [seizing] private land and [disregarding] environmental rules," so it can get the job done before next November, the Washington Post reported, citing current and former officials with knowledge of the matter.

Fast-tracking contracts and blowing off environmental rules are absolutely the kind of thoughtless and willful disregard for legislative and political norms we've come to expect from this wrecking ball of a White House.

And perhaps unsurprisingly, the former real estate developer turned president is engaging in a massive government land grab, through eminent domain, so he can satisfy his edifice complex.

Trump has reportedly batted aside any regulatory or legal concerns, telling his staff (jokingly, they say, but who knows?) that he'll pardon them if they break the law on the way to finishing the wall.

But it's clear that concerns about the 2020 campaign are firing Trump's ardor to deliver on 500 miles of promised border barrier before the polls open. Trump has reportedly said failing to finish the wall would be a massive political embarrassment.

As the Post reports, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has only completed about 60 miles' worth of construction - all of it in areas that had preexisting border infrastructure

And that's more than two years into Trump's presidency. Assuming that means there's 440 miles of construction left, that's an impossibly high bar to cross in the 14 months that remain until Election Day.

As the Post notes, the administration has rushed contracts and allowed construction companies to drag heavy equipment into environmentally sensitive areas - and justified it on national security grounds.

As if to underline the absurdity of the whole affair, Trump acknowledged to law-makers last year that actual immigration reform and enhanced border security are more effective than a physical barrier.

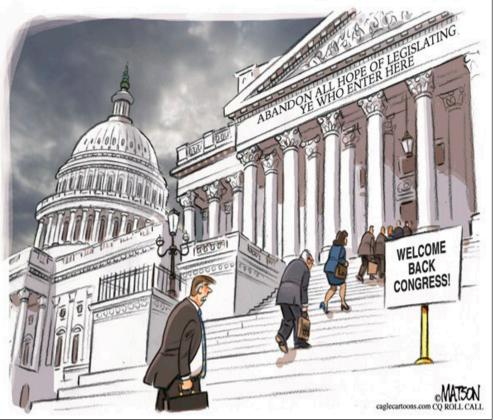

But he's also remarked on the applause his tough talk on the wall gets him at his campaign rallies.

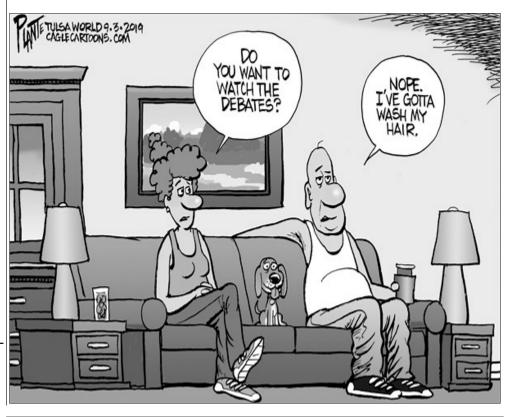

Bread, meet circuses. We believe the two of you each know the other?

That naked calculus should be reminder enough that what really fires the president and follow him on Twitter @ByJohnLMicek.

is not what's good for the nation or national security, but rather what's good for Donald J. Trump.

Such was the case in Biarritz earlier this week when the leader of the free world shed his constitutional responsibilities to shamelessly pitch his Florida golf resort to the leaders of the G7 nations like some late-night infomercial host.

In a cringeworthy moment as the world press looked on, Trump extolled the banquet rooms, parking, and seclusion of his Doral resort.

"It's got tremendous acreage, many hundreds of acres, so we can handle whatever happens," Trump said, according to the New York Times. "People are really liking it and plus it has buildings that have 50 to 70 units. And so each delegation can have its own building."

Given Trump's obsession with aesthetics and superlatives, it's no great shock to learn that he's been taking a hands-on interest in the appearance of his border wall, apparently insisting that it be painted black and be sharp and pointy on top like a medieval fortress or something.

And much like a parent who's decided to just give in and placate an overtired child, the Army Corps of Engineers is going to tell contractors to just go ahead and paint it black, the Post reported.

Maybe, someday, as Mick Jagger once sang about painting something else black, Trump will "fade away and not face facts." The rest of us, however, won't be so lucky.

Trump will build a wall. And we'll all be paying for it.
