FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS ON MEASURE S

By John Capoccia Mayor Pro-Tem

Tuesday November 5 is election day, and Sierra Madreans will weigh in on Measure S. Measure S will raise the local sales tax rate 3/4 of a percent, which will match the tax rate of our neighbors and bring sales tax to the State imposed cap. This will effectively lock out future sales tax increases by other agencies and keep the sales tax revenue in Sierra Madre for the benefit of its residents. If Measure S is approved, Sierra Madre will receive approximately $225k per year, which is less than 2% of our $12M General Fund revenue. Nevertheless, this small amount will go a long way to benefit Sierra Madreans help keep Sierra Madre the jewel of the San Gabriel Valley. Please, VOTE YES on Measure S.

I've compiled a list of Frequently Asked Questions to assist voters. After reading, I hope you'll agree that voting YES on Measure S is a good deal for Sierra Madreans.

Why was a sales tax increase proposed?

State law has imposed a sales tax limit by cities, counties and other districts. The current sales tax rate in Sierra Madre is 0.75% below the limit, which is the amount of the increase proposed with Measure S. If we don't secure the tax for the benefit of Sierra Madre, it's likely that another District such as LA County or the Southern California Air Quality Management District will impose another sales tax increase to bring the level of taxation to the state-imposed limit. If this happens, Sierra Madreans will pay the tax anyway and we will receive no revenue and thus no direct benefit. The threat is real. The Southern California Air Quality Mangament District is considering a sales tax increase, and State Senator Susan Rubio twice mentioned the possibility of a sales tax increase during a recent meeting of (continued on page 4) the San Gabriel Valley Council of Governments.

Why was this done now on a special election? Waiting would have run the risk of there being a competing Sales Tax measure on the 2020 General Election. If both a Sierra Madre measure and a competing measure were to pass, it's likely that the revenue would be split between the competing entities putting forth a measure, or it could be lost altogether to the competing measure.

What is the current breakdown of Sales Tax in Sierra Madre?

6.25% goes to the State of California, (With some local County return for Public Safety, Health, Social Services and Transportation)

1.00% is for Sierra Madre General Fund

2.25% is for additional Districts, such as LA County

9.50% Total

What are the taxable LA County Districts? Currently, there is one district that affects the sales tax rate in Sierra Madre, and that's LA County. A city is also considered a district, and entities such as the Southern California Air Quality Management District, which is considering a sales tax measure. Currently the breakdown of District sales taxes that apply in Sierra Madre are:

LA County Transportation Commission (Prop A) 0.50% LA County Transportation Commission

(Prop C) 0.50% LA County Metro Transportation Authority (Measure R) 0.50%

LA County Traffic Improvement Plan (Measure M) 0.50%

LA County Homeless Services Tax (Measure H) 0.25%

District Total 2.25%

Is there a limit on District Taxes?

Yes, the limit on district sales tax is 2.00%. However, the State granted exemptions to the district limit for Measure R and Measure M, so the total amount subject to the limit is 1.25% leaving 0.75% headroom" for additional Sales Tax.

Could the State raise the limit beyond 10.25%? It's possible, but I believe it's unlikely. I can't speak for other organizations, but there would certainly be a significant backlash from groups such as the Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Association, business groups and possibly the League of California Cities and San Gabriel Valley Council of Governments, and other LA County Councils of Government.

Do other LA County Cities collect a higher percentage?

Yes. Of the 88 LA County cities, at least 18 cities have additional sales taxes that completely consume the 0.75% "headroom", where the total sales tax in these cities is 10.25%. An additional seven cities are at the 10% tax level.

to the maximum 10.25% in 2018, including Ar- Madre's residents to eventually pay the increased cadia, Burbank, Covina, Cudahy, Culver City, El sales tax and get no direct benefit, when that Segundo, Glendale, Glendora, Huntington Park, money could be used in so many meaningful La Puente, Lawndale, Pasadena and Pomona.

Cities such as Duarte, Monrovia, San Gabriel, South Pasadena and Claremont have already decided to place a sales tax increase on the ballot, or are considering to do so. There may be others

Why are these cities considering increases to their sales tax?

Arcadia, Glendora and possibly others have declared a "fiscal emergency". The extra revenue is needed by these cities to balance municipal budgets for various reasons. Most other cities have revenue needs, but it's not known whether the needs constitute "fiscal emergencies". It should be noted that there is no criteria for declaring a "fiscal emergency" - it is so, if the City Council says it is so! However, these cities have also discussed the need to bring the sales tax to the limit before another district imposes a tax increase, which would foreclose on the ability of these cities to use the tax revenue for their own benefit, as is the case here for Sierra Madre.

Why was it necessary to collect signatures to place the measure on the ballot?

Normally, signatures are necessary to qualify for a special election. An exception is where the City Council declares a "fiscal emergency". Sierra Madre could have waited and placed the intiative on a General Election (2020), but at the risk of losing revenue to another district.

Why didn't Sierra Madre declare a fiscal emergency?

Because we don't have one. Sierra Madre's finances are in great shape, certainly better than most cities in LA County. A recently released State Audit scored Sierra Madre "Low Risk", and in better financial shape than all of our immediate neighbors such as Árcadia, Pasadena, Monrovia, San Gabriel, San Marino and South Pasadena. Because the Sierra Madre City Council could not in good faith declare a fiscal emergency, an initiative to place Measure S on the November 2019 ballot became necessary. Fortunately, Sierra Madre residents Pat and De Alcorn, Gary Hood and David Williams stepped up to lead a citizen's effort to collect signatures to qualify Measure S.

How many signatures were collected?

A group of volunteers collected over 900 signatures. Approximately 815 signatures were required.

If Measure S passes, how will the extra $225k annually be used?

The City Council would decide how to allocate the funds during the normal bugeting process. The General Fund provides for Public Safety including Police, Fire and Paramedic, Public Parks, Open Space and Recreation, Tree Maintenance and Replacement, Roads and Sidewalks, Maintenance of Public Buildings, Library Services, and Administratve functions such as maintaining our Municipal Code and Zoning Ordinances. A possibility is to also pay down a portion our Unfunded Pension Liability. Recently, it's become apparent that an aggressive prepayment program provides an outstanding rate of return with the potential of further solidifying city finances.

Also, please remember that everytime you go to Old Town, Target, Ghanal Lumber, Westfield Mall and other shopping destinations in Pasadena and Arcadia, you support our neighbor's respective general funds. Measure S will match our sales tax to theirs, so when Pasadenans and Arcadians visit Arnolds or eat at our great resturants (which they do), they will reciprocate by paying into OUR general fund.

One could argue that Sierra Madre doesn't 'need" the extra revenue. It's true that Sierra Madre's Council, City Manager and staff have kept our finances in order, despite the fact that we don't have revenue from big box stores, hotel taxes, or property assements as do our neigh-Several of these cities passed a sales tax increase bors. However, it would be tragic for Sierra ways here in Sierre Madre!

KATIE Tse....This and That

Before you get grossed this article's out, more about unusual decorations and accessories left in restrooms. A title like that is pregnant with possibilities, but I try to keep it clean over here at "This & That."

This article's inspiration came when I used one of the bathrooms at work that I don't typically use. I work at a school, not that it matters, but I suppose you have to keep the context in mind. The bathrooms aren't temperature-controlled, and this one's always hot and muggy. And it's got a tennis racket.

When I moved to this campus, I assumed someone just forgot their racket in there (between matches?). But it's been four years now, so I'm thinking it's a permanent fixture.

Begs the question, "Was this done intentionally?" Besides the tennis racket, the bathroom's empty save for the usual assortment of air fresheners. No balls. No other racket. Clearly the idea isn't to spend a few carefree minutes batting something back and forth against the wall. So what's the point?

I suspect rackets aren't all that cheap. Seems odd someone would intentionally leave it there. Is it supposed to double as a weapon?

I didn't think my school was in such a bad loo more enjoyable

ODD THINGS IN BATHROOMS

neighborhood, but I guess you never know. Maybe that's why it's locked up in a staff bathroom where kids can't get at it. Something along the lines of, "We all know that in case of emergencies there's a tennis racket in the E wing women's bathroom. Just pop in there and come out swinging."

At one of my mom's old schools they had a lifesize cut out of Tom Selleck from his Magnum PI days. I can see that...

I like the bathroom decor at Smitty's in Pasadena. They've got Marlon Brando (circa "Stella!") and Paul Newman. Newman was always such a hottie. They've also got Burt Reynolds grinning in the buff on a bear skin rug. I was never really into Burt Reynolds, but the pose is eye catching.

Another somewhat odd thing you sometimes see in bathrooms are couches. I actually don't think that's such a bad idea. Don't we all need somewhere to collapse for a minute before facing the world again? I know I do.

The only consideration would be how often the cushions get cleaned. If the length of time that tennis racket has spent in my school bathroom is any indication, I'd say it could be a while. But I suppose a little filth is worth the chance to plop down and escape. If only for a moment.

WALKING SIERRA MADRE - The Social Side

by Deanne Davis

'Today's good mood is sponsored by coffee." "May your coffee be strong and your Monday be short."

"As long as there is coffee in the world, how bad can things be?"

"Coffee is a hug in a mug."

Happy day or so after Halloween. We've survived another one, friends and neighbors and, once again, Alegria was the place to be for one amazing display after another. The Parkers, who grow the giant pumpkins, outdid themselves with the pterodactyl mom and her babies, the terrifyingly tall Mr. Pumpkinhead and so much more. The carving on everybody's pumpkins was so creative and blue ribbons are hereby awarded to everyone on the street.

All these displays brought to mind that part in the Old Testament about Ezekiel. Remember? God took Ezekiel down into the valley of the dry bones and told him to "Prophesy to these bones!" So Ezekiel did and next thing you know, dem old bones came to life and became a vast army. And, of course, you've heard that song about dry bones, written by African-American author and composer, James Weldon Johnson, somewhere around 1928. The reason I'm bringing all these dry bones to mind is because that valley of dry bones was pretty much what Sierra Madre looked like this past week. Skeletons everywhere you cast your eyes! And spiders! The Giant Spider Store must be totally sold out as there were giant spiders on just about every fence, wall and roof in town. It's so neat the way our town does its scary best to make Halloween a noteworthy event.

Another exciting event took place last Saturday; the ribbon-cutting and official opening of the longawaited Syndicate Bakery & Coffee, on the south side of Sierra Madre Blvd. directly across from Kersting Court. Daughter, Leah, and son-in-law, Chuck Seitz, were present at the ribbon cutting as were a whole bunch of our local Chamber of Commerce folks, including Luther Tsinoglou, President of the Chamber, Carol Canterbury, Chamber VP, and Chamber Treasuer and Mountain Views News Editor Susan Henderson. Kathryn Barger (5th District Suprvisor) and Congresswoman Judy Chu sent certificates and representatives. An auspicious beginning, I would say. Not only that, but once the festivities were concluded, Leah and Chuck shared a raspberry scone that they pronounced delicious. Not too sweet but just right, as co-owner, Alex Novack confided, they didn't want sugar to overwhelm the quality ingredients raspberries - inside.

Alex and his partner, Andrew, are currently only doing pastries and coffee. Pastries are all made, in-house, early in the morning every day and they can even offer you gluten-free and vegan versions of these goodies.

As far as the coffee is concerned, serious coffee aficionados will like Syndicate's handling of the precious beans. Not over-roasted, which allows true flavors to emerge and it's Unity Coffee, direct trade ethically sourced coffee. Alex, Andrew and Nolan Pearson, relationships manager and coffee roaster shared that the coffee is roasted in Los Angeles on a zero-emission roaster. They know each and every one of their coffee producers and here's Syndicate's motto: Vibrant Coffees from Producers We Love." I like that. It's not all nameless stuff out of a big vat somewhere unknown, but each coffee is carefully selected from one particular source. Unusual!

Syndicate Coffee is only available right here in Sierra Madre and at another location in Pasadena. It's for sale by the bag, as well as the cup and it is all produced "third way" which means each facet of the coffee production is scientifically engineered, which requires specialized grinders, next generation espresso machines and everything as modern and new-school as possible to create coffees that will delight your nose, and coffeetasting senses.

Here's another neat thing about Syndicate: Any pastries still on hand at the end of the day end up at one of our local shelters. I like that. No waste. If you haven't been in to Syndicate yet for a cup of coffee, a latte, or a cappuccino and a Danish with house-made mixed berry jam and lightly sautéd blueberries, a brioche cinnamon roll, or maybe a Black Forest ham and gruyere croissant, you're not being good to yourself!

They are open Tues - Fri: 7am - 4pm. Sat & Sun: 8am -4pm and closed Mondays.

SIERRA MADRE SEARCH AND RESCUE WORKS TO PREVENT THEIR NEXT CALL OUT

The Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team (SMSR) stands ready to go "anywhere in the wilderness someone needs help" but they also work in town to provide preventative search and rescue (PSAR) education in an effort to keep hikers from ever needing their services. The Team has been busy in the past months with lessons for groups of children, appearances at community events, and presentations for local organizations. Hug-A-Tree

One of the core components of the Team's PSAR efforts are the Hug-A-Tree presentations they give to children between the ages of 5 and 12. These 30-60 minute presentations are designed to teach children what to do if they get lost in the wilder-

The Hug-A-Tree program was created after a 9 year old boy in San Diego died of hypothermia after getting lost in the wilderness during a family camping trip. He was found just a couple of miles away from his campsite after a massive 4 day search. Many people were impacted by this tragedy and wanted to make sure it never happened again.

Now children can watch a short video and hear from team members about what to do to keep from getting lost, how to stay comfortable if they are lost, and how they can help get themselves found. The key is to hug a tree! By staying still children (and adults) can increase their odds of being found quickly.

Kids also walk away from their Hug-A-Tree lesson with a whistle kit. The kit includes a card reminding them of everything that they learned, a large trash bag (that can be used to stay warm, dry, or shaded in an emergency) and a whistle to carry with them on all of their hikes. Hundreds of these "whistles kits" have been given to kids by SMSR.

Community Events

SMSR also makes appearances at community events. These are valuable opportunities to connect with a large number of people. Whether it is a short conversation with a new hiker, or a trail runner who reads one of their sign boards, the messages of the team are getting out to the public.

Most recently the Team participated in the Southern California Children's Museum Touch a Truck event and the Sierra Madre Professional Firefighter Association's car show.

Local Organizations

The Team has presented to Rotary Clubs about who the Team is and what they do, and they have provided wilderness safety training to the local scouting leaders. Every one of these interactions is a valuable opportunity to share their knowledge and possibly prevent a future call for help to search and rescue.

Since 1951, the all-volunteer Sierra Madre Search and Rescue Team has responded to calls for help in the local mountains and beyond. SMSR also provides a range of wilderness safety programs. The Team never charges for any of these services, and is funded entirely by charitable donations. For more information, to donate, or to arrange a wilderness safety demonstration for your school or group, visit www.smsr.org.

Proposed Amendments to Cannabis Regulations

The Pasadena Planning Commission will consider, On Wednesday, Nov. 13, amendments to the City's existing cannabis business regulations to allow all six of the top-scoring applicants the opportunity establish retail dispensaries at locations that comply with all statemandated requirements while maintaining and preserving the buffers from sensitive uses as approved by Pasadena's voters. "I have initiated a process for the Planning Commission and the City Council to consider a change to local law that would allow the six highest-rated cannabis applicants to seek to locate on the sites that they have identified. Under the present regulations, only four of the top candidates would be able to open for business instead of the up to six approved by voters. If the Planning Commission and the City Council decide to modify existing regulations, there is likely ample space in the city to accommodate all six of the retailers that scored highest in the City's application process. This is a fair and equitable solution to the lack of suitable space under present regulations while preserving of the protections for neighborhoods sensitive uses," says City Manager Steve Mermell.

The amendments, if approved, would modify the location requirements set forth in Section 17.50.066 of the Zoning Code and other applicable sections, in order to allow up to three cannabis retailers per council district and to decrease the minimum distance between cannabis retailers from 1,000 feet to 450 feet. These code amendments will not increase the overall maximum number of allowed dispensaries or change any of the separation requirements from sensitive uses.

Planning The Commission will forward its recommendation on the proposed amendments to the City Council, and the City Council will make a final decision on the proposed amendment at a separately-noticed public hearing.

"The voters approved regulations that allow up to six cannabis retailers to locate in Pasadena in a manner which protects residential areas and sensitive uses such as churches and schools. This proposed amendment allows the City to do just that," says Mermell.

Change Clocks, Change Batteries

Pasadena Fire Department reminds you to change all of your smoke alarm batteries when you change your clocks back on Sunday.

Replace old smoke alarm batteries with fresh, high-quality batteries to keep your smoke alarms ready to protect you all year long. Make sure your emergency flashlights work when you need them by using fresh, high-quality batteries.

After inserting fresh batteries in your smoke alarm, make sure the alarm is working by activating the safety test button. The fire department recommends testing all of your smoke alarms at least once a month. If you have any doubt regarding the working condition of a smoke alarm, replace it. It's recommended that you replace your smoke alarms with new devices every 10 years.

A properly functioning smoke alarm should be placed in every bedroom and in the hallway directly adjacent to those rooms. If bedrooms are on an upper level, a smoke alarm should be installed in the center of the ceiling directly above the interior stairway.

Gently use a vacuum cleaner once a month to remove dust and cobwebs. If your smoke alarms have been accidentally painted or contaminated, replacement may be necessary.

Children often become scared and confused when a fire erupts, putting them at increased risk of dying in a home fire. So, the fire department recommends practicing your escape plans with your children.

With the ongoing brush fires in our surrounding communities, this is also a good time to update your disaster supplies for your family members—including

HAPPY 90TH ANNIVERSARY TO CALIFORNIA'S RETIRED TEACHERS!

Retired Teachers Celebrate 90 Years of Giving Back

The California Retired Teachers' Association (CalRTA) has good reason to celebrate

Retired Teachers Week, November 3-9. This organization has been going strong since its beginnings and is now celebrating its 90th Anniversary! CalRTA was founded in 1929 (known then as CRTA ) through the efforts of Laura Settle, a retired Pasadena educator, with five or six people. Now the state organization numbers over 40,000 members!

Although retired from teaching, members of CalRTA stay vital and active. One major contribution they make is through volunteer service. Many go back to the classroom--not for pay but to volunteer their time and effort. According to the CalRTA State Communications and Technology Committee, this past year

CalRTA members contributed almost 2 million hours of volunteer service to schools and to the community in general. That number translates to $57.8 million in services. Besides that, members donated $600,000 in grants to schools and scholarships to future

Of equal importance is that CalRTA members, like other public employees, give back to their communities and to the state economically through pension spending. According to the National Institute on Retirement Security in its Pensionomics 2018 report, California saw $73.7 billion in total economic benefit in 2016 from pension benefits paid out by state and local pension plans. Retirees contribute to the local economy by spending their pension benefit checks in their communities, so one persons's spending becomes another person's income.

Membership in the California Retired Teachers' Association (CalRTA) is open to all retired educators, as well as to current educators and to any others interested in joining. For membership information, please call Marietta Watkins at (323)

SIERRA MADRE UNITING AGAINST HATE

By Donna Jaffee, Marianna Nikolaidou and Lauren Pressman.

Thanksgiving is fast approaching, and many of us will be at the dinner table, looking forward to connecting with family and friends. Sierra Madre residents have much to be thankful for. Our beautiful, serene and safe city remains free from the strife and violence that other communities are experiencing. Yet, given the political climate of the last few years, we may more acutely feel the need to address some difficult questions as we celebrate this holiday of gratitude. How do we talk to people we hold dear but whose views conflict with our own? How do we find common ground with those who are different from us, whether by origin of birth, sexual orientation, religion, race or political persuasion?

As fortunate as we are to call Sierra Madre our home, we're not immune to the toxicity and hate surging across the country which often permeates our work and social environments. We can, however, take steps to raise awareness and spark action against hostility and for inclusion. By doing so, Sierra Madre can become a city United Against Hate.

The United Against Hate campaign, in coordination with "Not in Our Town," is a call for seven days of local civic action by communities nationwide to stop the hate and implicit biases that threaten the safety and civility of our towns and cities. This year, activities will take place November 16 – 22. On Saturday, November 16 from 11 am – 2 pm SMART (Sierra Madre Activists Rebuilding Together) will have a table at Kersting Court where children and their families can show their commitment to be kind to each other by creating art and compiling a list of ways to show empathy and respect for our commonalities and differences. SMART will hold another gathering at Kersting Court on Thursday, November 21, 5 pm - 7 pm, to show our solidarity as a community of peace, understanding and inclusion. Join us on November 16 and/or November 21 to share stories and stand together United Against Hate.

FOUR TIPS FOR FLU SEASON

By Greg Frank, Ph.D.

You know the signs. The thunderous cough. The pounding headache. The full-body fatigue.

It's the flu. Last fall and winter, influenza sickened roughly 40 million Americans and killed 60,000, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

This year's flu season is nearly upon us. Here are four tips to stay healthy.

1. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. People should get the flu vaccine early. Every year, this shot prevents up to 6.7 million flu cases, 87,000 hospitalizations, and 10,000 deaths. The vaccine also helps makes the flu less severe for those who do catch it.

The CDC recommends obtaining a flu shot no later than the end of October. The treatment takes around two weeks to become fully effective, so there's no time to waste.

2. Your mom was right: If you do fall ill, remember your mother's advice. Drink lots of fluids. Juice, Gatorade, herbal teas, and chicken soup can help fight dehydration. Menthol ointments and humidifiers break up mucus and make it easier to breathe. These treatments aren't fancy, but they provide real relief.

3. Remember that antibiotics won't help. Influenza is caused by a virus. Antibiotics, which only treat bacterial infections, are completely useless against viruses.

Not all patients realize this. Many clamor for antibiotics at the first sign of flu-like symptoms.

Such antibiotics won't make people feel any better. In fact, needlessly taking antibiotics increases people's risk of future infections. It gives bacteria an opportunity to evolve and become immune to treatments -- a phenomenon known as "antimicrobial resistance."

4. Antibiotics come with risks. Antibiotic overuse accelerates the spread of drug-resistant bacteria known as "superbugs," which already kill over 160,000 Americans every year.

To fight these superbugs, Congress is currently considering the Developing an Innovative Strategy for Antimicrobial Resistant Microorganisms Act, or DISARM. This bill would incentivize hospitals to use antibiotics appropriately and sparingly. It would also encourage researchers to develop new antibiotics. Along with a package of market incentives for new treatments, the DISARM Act could save thousands

So remember -- get your shots early, follow your mother's advice, and don't jeopardize your health by needlessly taking antibiotics.

Greg Frank, Ph.D., is the director of infectious disease policy at the Biotechnology Innovation Organization.

HOLIDAY WINE BUYING TIPS

When is a wine sale not really a sale at all? One of our Southern California grocery stores just finished a 30% off sale. I only wanted one bottle, so as I looked at the so-called "regular" price before discount, I found myself shaking my head. There is no way these wines are regularly priced so high. Wines I have never seen in the $20 range (like Domaine Chandon, Roeder Estate, Kendall Jackson, and even Korbel) were all priced like I was at Spago. A non-grocery beverage center did a 5-cent sale (buy one and get one for 5 cents) which seems like a good deal. Even at the regular price of $120 a bottle I'll take a bottle of Dom Perignon if the next one is for 5 cents. But no, the small print specified "selected wines". Now, my favorite retailer has come up with a buy one get one for 10 cents (why not 8 cents?) sale. Every student of wine or expert sommelier says "no matter the price, if you like it buy it". My word to the wise is that if you can handle buying six bottles at a time, these "grocery store sales" can yield you a bit of savings, so don't buy into the "regular" price - I sure don't!

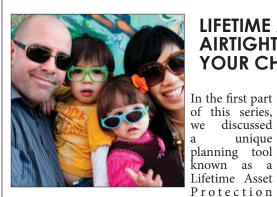

I had to jump on the bandwagon, so I bought the Clos du Bois Chardonnay 2012 at the buy-oneget-one-for-10-cents special. I scanned the bar code with my smart phone for the "true" discount price and here is what I found: the lowest price was $9.00, but since you have to buy through the internet, once you add the shipping cost it doesn't make sense. The wine retails for $12.99, plus ten cents for the second bottle, which makes it $6.55 for each bottle. Now, if you get six bottles there is another 10% savings. My accounting got me in trouble a few months ago, so let's call that a guestimate, but the savings are real.

In summary yes, the Clos du Bois is great value at the discounted price, and with the summer here there will be more sales at supermarkets for sure. Try the scan on your favorite wine, it will give you roughly what you should be paying. If you don't have a smart phone, ignore the retail price and look at the bottom price and the total discount. There are some real deals out there.

LIFETIME ASSET PROTECTION TRUSTS: AIRTIGHT ASSET PROTECTION FOR YOUR CHILD'S INHERITANCE—PART 2

unique planning tool known as a Lifetime Asset explain the benefits Here we these trusts in further

If you're planning to leave your children an inheritance of any amount, you likely want to do everything you can to protect what you leave behind from being lost or squandered.

While most lawyers will advise you to distribute the assets you're leaving to your kids outright at specific ages and stages, based on when you think they will be mature enough to handle an inheritance, there is a much better choice for safeguarding your family wealth.

A Lifetime Asset Protection Trust is a unique estate planning vehicle that's specifically designed to protect your children's inheritance from unfortunate life events such as divorce, debt, illness, and accidents. At the same time, you can give your children the ability to access and invest their inheritance, while retaining airtight asset protection for their entire lives.

Today, we'll look at the Trustee's role in the process and how these unique trusts can teach your kids to manage and grow their inheritance, so it can support your children to become wealth creators and enrich future generations.

Total discretion for the Trustee offers airtight asset protection

Most trusts require the Trustee to distribute assets to beneficiaries in a structured way, such as at certain ages or stages. Other times, a Trustee is required to distribute assets only for specific purposes, such as for the beneficiary's "health, education, maintenance, and support," also known as the "HEMS" standard.

In contrast, a Lifetime Asset Protection Trust gives the Trustee full discretion on whether to make distributions or not. The Trust leaves the decision of whether to release trust assets totally up to the Trustee. The Trustee has full authority to determine how and when the assets should be released based on the beneficiary's needs and the circumstances going on in his or her life at the time.

For example, if your child was in the process of getting divorced or in the middle of a lawsuit, the Trustee would refuse to distribute any funds. Therefore, the Trust assets remain shielded from a future ex-spouse or a potential judgment creditor, should your child be ordered to pay damages resulting from a lawsuit.

What's more, because the Trustee controls access to the inheritance, those assets are not only protected from outside threats like ex-spouses and creditors, but from your child's own poor judgment, as well. For example, if your child develops a substance abuse or gambling problem, the Trustee could withhold distributions until he or she receives the appropriate treatment.

A lifetime of guidance and support

Given that distributions from a Lifetime Asset Protection Trust are 100% up to the Trustee, you may be concerned about the Trustee's ability to know when to make distributions to your child and when to withhold them. Granting such power is vital for asset protection, but it

In the first part also puts a lot of pressure on the Trustee, and of this series, you probably don't want your named Trustee discussed making these decisions in a vacuum.

> To address this issue, you can write up guidelines to the Trustee, providing the Trustee with direction about how you'd like the trust assets to be used for your beneficiaries. This ensures the Trustee is aware of your values and wishes when making distributions, rather than simply guessing what you would've wanted, which often leads to problems down the road.

In fact, many of our clients add guidelines describing how they'd choose to make distributions in up to 10 different scenarios. These scenarios might involve the purchase of a home, a wedding, the start of a business, and/ or travel.

An educational opportunity

Beyond these benefits, a Lifetime Asset Protection Trust can also be set up to give your child hands-on experience managing financial matters, like investing, running a business, and charitable giving. And he or she will learn how to do these things with support from the Trustee you've chosen to guide them.

This is accomplished by adding provisions to the trust that allow your child to become a Co-Trustee at a predetermined age. Serving alongside the original Trustee, your child will have the opportunity to invest and manage the trust assets under the supervision and tutelage of a trusted mentor.

You can even allow your child to become Sole Trustee later in life, once he or she has gained enough experience and is ready to take full control. As Sole Trustee, your child would be able to resign and replace themselves with an independent trustee, if necessary, for continued asset protection.

Regardless of whether or not your child becomes Co-Trustee or Sole Trustee, a Lifetime Asset Protection Trust gives you the opportunity to turn your child's inheritance into a teaching tool.

Do you want to give your child the ability to leave trust assets to a surviving spouse or a charity upon their death? Or would you prefer that the assets are only distributed to his or her biological or adopted children? You might even want your child to create their own Lifetime Asset Protection Trust for their heirs.

OLD BONES (The Gideon Oliver Mysteries) by Aaron Elkins

An Edgar Award-winning mystery featuring the forensic anthropologist hailed as "a likable, down-to-earth, cerebral sleuth"—from the author of Switcheroo (Chicago Tribune). "With the roar of thunder and the speed of a galloping horse comes the tide to Mont St. Michel," goes the old nursery song. So when the aged patriarch of the du Rocher family falls victim to the perilous tide, even the old man's family accepts the verdict of accidental drowning. But too quickly, this "accident" is followed by a bizarre discovery in the ancient du Rocher chateau: a human skeleton, wrapped in butcher paper, beneath the old stone flooring. Professor Gideon Oliver, lecturing on forensic anthropology at nearby St. Malo, is asked to examine the bones. He quickly demonstrates why he is known as the "Skeleton Detective," providing the police with forensic details that lead them to conclude that these are the remains of a Nazi officer believed to have been murdered in the area during the Occupation. Or are they? Gideon himself has his doubts. Then, when another of the current du Rochers dies—this time via cyanide poisoning his doubts solidify into a single certainty: Someone wants old secrets to stay buried . . . and is perfectly willing to eradicate the meddlesome American to make that happen. Voted one of the Independent Mystery Booksellers Association's 100 Favorite Mysteries of the 20th Century, and featuring "a thrilling final scene.Old Bones is the 4th book in the Gideon Oliver Mysteries, but you may enjoy reading the series in any order.

ACORNS ARE FALLING

[Nyerges is an ethnobotanist who has been teaching about the uses of wild plants since 1974. He is the author of 19 books including "Guide to Wild Foods and Useful Plants," "Foraging California," "Nuts and Berries of California," and others. He can be reached at www. SchoolofSelf-Reliance.com, or Box 41834, Eagle Rock, CA 90041]

Acorns are the fruit of the for example. oak tree – a nut set in a scaly cap. Oak trees are the Quercus species, and there are about 600 species of oak trees world-wide. Here in Sierra Madre and surrounding areas, they are widely planted, and the acorns are falling or on the ground right now.

Oak trees are very diverse, most being large trees, but some being bushes. There are species which are evergreen and those which are deciduous (they drop their leaves as winter comes).

Acorns have been used for millennia for food by the indigenous people who once exclusively lived here, but you can't just pick up acorns and acid, they must first be leached in any of a variety of methods.

After I collect acorns in the fall, I typically dry them by placing them in one of my dehydrators, or laying them in the sun. Drying removes the moisture so the acorns will not get moldy if you're not going to use them right away. Once dried, you could keep them for a few years before you

Today, on the trail or in the kitchen, the neatest and quickest way to process the acorns is to boil them and change the water repeatedly until they are no longer bitter. At that point, I prefer to process them through a hand-crank meat grinder to produce a coarse meal. You can also dry that coarse meal, and then grind it finer, which you can do in a coffee grinder. The meal is perfect for any product calling for flour. I typically mix the acorn flour 50-50 with wheat or other flours. This is partly for flavor, and partly because acorn flour doesn't hold together as well as wheat flour,

TRADITIONAL PROCESSING

The more traditional method of processing first involves shelling the acorns, and then grinding them while still raw. I typically do this on a large flat-rock metate. The flour can also be processed in a food processor. Then, I put a cotton tea cloth inside a large metal colander, put the acorn flour into the colander, and pour cold water over the acorns. The water takes a while to trickle out, and it may require 2 or 3 or 10 pourings of water before the acorn meal is no longer bitter and can be eat them. Because of the presence of bitter tannic I have had modern acorn products of chips, pound cake, and pasta. They are delicious. If I had to describe the acorn flavor, I would say that products made with acorn flavor have a subtle graham cracker flavor. There exist at least 3 cookbooks entirely devoted to making acorn food products, such as puddings, bread, cakes, pancakes, pasta, cookies, and drinks.

RECIPES:

TONGVA MEMORIES

Process your acorn flour, and mix half-and-half with whole wheat flour. If you don't use wheat, use another flour such as amaranth or potato flour. Add an egg if desired. Add water and mix to create a pancake batter consistency. Cook the pancakes on a buttered hot skillet, and serve with butter or jam.

LINDA'S ACORN PASTA

I learned this recipe from Linda Sheer who grew up in rural Appalachia. Blend one-half processed acorn flour with one-half whole wheat flour. Add water as needed, and run it through a pasta machine, creating noodles or whatever sort of pasta you prefer. When cooked, serve with butter, or tomato sauce.

BE GRATEFUL

It has been said that an attitude of gratitude acts as a italyst for nappiness and from my own experience I know this is true. With Thanksgiving just around the corner, I feel compelled to say I have much to be thankful for. First of all, I am incredibly blessed with a loving family and many awesome friends of both the two- and four-legged variety, for which I am extremely grateful. I also give thanks for the progress that has been made on behalf of the animals here in California

It is too easy for me to get distracted by thoughts of what is going wrong in the world today, particularly as it pertains to the inhumane treatment of animals. That's why I try my best to stay focused on the good things that are happening to bring about change for the better and I find that keeping a positive perspective in general, most certainly serves me well.

For the past few years I have been a supporter of Social Compassion in Legislation (SCIL), a non-profit organization dedicated to legal reform for the humane treatment of animals in our state and beyond. Founder, CEO and president of SCIL, Judie Mancuso has made it her mission to fight for animals' rights, especially for those who've fallen victim to exploitation, neglect and

By blazing a trail that other like-minded advocates can join in and follow, Mancuso's efforts have paid off royally for the animals, both domestic and wild. Social Compassion in Legislation has put their efforts into getting new laws passed that are designed to do away with inappropriate treatment of animals and through much hard work and determination, they are paving the road to a more ethical way of life with fairness to all species.

This year, SCIL sponsored 11 bills, 3 of which were signed into law by Governor Newsom. While 3 out of 11 may not sound like success, it is no small task just to get a bill into state assembly for consideration, much less getting it passed into law. With countless political road blocks, special interest groups fighting the bill because it is not to their benefit, potentially insurmountable monetary barriers, committees and subcommittees to vote the bill forward before it ever gets to the Governor's desk, it's a near miracle that any bill makes its way into law, but SCIL did it three times this year, and for that I am very grateful.

Here are the laws effective January 2020, all sponsored by SCIL and all on behalf of the animals. . AB 243 (Gonzalez) Ban on Fur Trapping

This law will ban all commercial and recreational fur trapping, making California the first state in the union to do so. SCIL's cosponsor, Center for Biological Diversity (CBD) with their science and lobbying resources were a great help in getting this bill passed.

2. AB 1260 (Maienschein) Endangered Species/Exotic

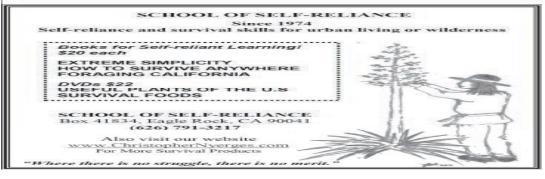

By adding 7 species to a sales ban list including pythons, kangaroos, whales and many other species, coupled with winning the fight to kill the exemption on alligators and crocodiles, this was a victory bigger than SCIL had imagined. Penal Code 653.0 will cover protection of alligator and crocodiles starting in 2020 and the following species starting in 2022: iguana, skink, caiman, hippopotamus and Teju, Ring or Nile

3. SB 313 (Hueso) Circus Cruelty Prevention Act This takes the circus performers out of the big tent that do not have a choice in being there (aka: the animals). It's high time, folks! But better late than never.

SCIL is always working on new legislation for more proper and humane treatment of the animals. They currently have several bills in the works for which they could use your support. If you are interested in joining them in their valiant efforts, go to socialcompassioninlegislation.org.

Enjoy the Thanksgiving holiday. Celebrate with family and friends. Be grateful for all you are blessed with. Love and let live!

HOW TO CREATE AN ETHICAL WILL

Dear Savvy Senior:

Can you write a column on ethical wills and how to make one? The attorney that made up my will recently suggested I write one as a tool to explain

Dear Interested:

An ethical will - also referred to as a legacy letter - can be a valuable complement to your legal will, as well as a wonderful gift to your family or other loved ones. Here's what you should know along with some tips to help you make one.

Ethical Wills

Unlike a last will and testament, which tells your loved ones (and the legal world) what you want them to have, an ethical will (which is not a legal document) tells them what you want them to know.

With an ethical will, you can share with your loved ones your feelings, wishes, regrets, gratitude and advice, as well as explain the elements in your legal will, give information about the money and possessions you're passing on, and anything else you want to communicate.

Usually no more than a few pages, the process of writing an ethical will can actually be quite satisfying. But be careful that you don't contradict any aspects of your legal will or estate plan.

And, if you're having trouble with the writing, there are resources available to help you, or you can express yourself through an audio or video recording.

Where to Start

To craft an ethical will, start by jotting down some notes about what's really important to you and what you want your loved ones to know. Take your time and remember that you're not trying to write for the Pulitzer Prize. This letter is a gift of yourself written for those you love.

After you've gathered your thoughts you can start drafting your letter. You can also revise or rewrite it anytime you want. And for safekeeping, keep your ethical will with your other legal documents in a secure location but be sure your executor has access to it. A safe-deposit box or fireproof filing cabinet or safe in your home is a good choice.

If you need some help, there are numerous resources available like Celebrations of Life (CelebrationsofLife.net), which offers how-to information and examples of ethical wills, along with a "Ethical Wills: Putting Your Values on Paper" book, and the Ethical Wills/Legacy Letters workbook that you can purchase for $16 and $10 respectively.

Another good resource is Personal Legacy Advisors (Personal Legacy Advisors.com), a company that offers ethical will writing classes and workshops, along with personalized services like coaching, editing, writing and/or audio or video recording your ethical will. Prices will vary depending on the services you choose. They also sell a do-it-yourself guidebook "The Wealth of Your Life: A Step-by-Step Guide for Creating Your Ethical Will," by Susan Turnbull for $24.

You also need to know that many people choose to share their ethical will with their family and friends while they're still living so they can enjoy their reactions, while others think it should be read after their death. It's up to you.

Send your senior questions to: Savvy Senior, P.O. Box 5443, Norman, OK 73070, or visit Savvy-Senior.org. Jim Miller is a contributor to the NBC Today show and author of "The Savvy Senior" book.

With a lifespan of up to 80 years and the intelligence level of a 3 year old child, these birds require an enormous commitment that the average person finds gotten about.

Lately, I have been getting behind in my work schedule. Just when I think I am caught up, I discover something I had for-

If only I could forget what I forgot, I would be happy. I am pretty close to being a master at the "O, I simply forgot about that" excuse.

Getting away with it among most people is fine. When it comes to the Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage, I have yet to get away with it even one time. Not only does she remember things I have forgotten, but also she remembers things I have never known. Of course, I do not challenge her memory, which would be a bad day for sure.

The past week was a week of scrambling trying to keep up with everything. I am still not sure I actually finished the week and my schedule. Nevertheless, I did my very best.

When I was in high school, I usually got away with the excuse, "My dog ate my homework." At the time, if my dog had eaten all the homework I said he had eaten, he would be the size of an elephant.

It was not a very productive week in my viewpoint, and I guess I complained about it more than usual. If there is a PhD in complaining, I am a candidate. Simply call me Dr. Grumpy, because that appears to be my strong suit these days.

The mistake I made was complaining about all this to my wife. I do not know why I was doing that because I know better and understand that it will never get me anywhere. But out of frustration, I complained about how hard my week was. I might have gone on more than I should have.

The Gracious Mistress of the Parsonage finally had enough of that. She stopped me, looked at me with both hands on her hips and said, "Don't you know that every dog has his day?"

I smiled good-heartedly and said, "Thank you for those words of encouragement."

To be truthful, I do not know what that means. Is she suggesting that I am just a dog?

I could probably handle that I suppose. Just give me a treat every now and then and I will wag my tail and do not be alarmed if I start barking.

Or, was she suggesting that everybody has a good day every once in a while?

She smiled back at me and said, "Your good day is about to come your way." Then she went back to her activities.

Sitting in my chair I carefully pondered this wifepsychology that my wife is so proficient at, especially when it has to do with me.

Everybody has a different definition of what a "good day" really is. I must confess that my wife's "good day" is not quite the same as mine.

Her definition of a good day is when she is able to do a lot of work and get it done on time.

My definition of a good day is when I have no work to do and have time to do nothing.

Never the twain shall meet.

I almost asked her to define for me her definition of a "good day." But I knew that it would have no relevance whatsoever to me. And, if I got her to define that good day, I would be responsible to live that kind of a good day under her supervision, every day.

Oh, boy. That would end up in a lot of trouble for me, which would not be a "good day" by anybody's definition.

I was tempted to say to my wife, "If every dog has a good day then I should be barking." Everybody knows, especially my wife, the barking dog is chased out of the house." For me, that would not be a good

As I get older, but no wiser, my definition of a good day has changed. When I was younger, a good day was when I was able to do a lot of good things for myself. Now, as I have gotten older, a good day is when I have less things to do. And the lesser, the gooder the day in my opinion.

Through the years, I have stumbled onto a secret. I will pass it along, but let us just keep it between us. It is something that has dramatically changed my

I have discovered that a "good day" is when I do less for myself and more for the other resident in our home. Of course, the less she knows I am doing for her, the gooder the day for me. It has taken me a long time to learn this, and I am still on the learn-

The longer I keep this from her, the better it will be for me in the end.

Now I can identify my "good day" where before I had no idea.

In pondering this, I remembered something Jesus said. "Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again" (Luke 6:38).

You may not hear me barking, but I am learning what a good day is and how to have it.

LIFE IS NOT A DREAM

Tensely I walked through a dark, foggy night looking for my car. Really unclear where I was going, I saw a light on in a second floor apartment that looked vaguely familiar, Really not knowing what I was doing I tried the door and it opened allowing me into a kind of familiar room. The only thing I was clear about was that there was something very important to do that related to my mother. I knew that she was in trouble and needed me. I wanted to call my father but how could be help? He's been blind for years and but how could he help? He's been blind for years and I suddenly realize he's been dead for forty years and my mother has been dead for ten. Wait a minute- where's my cell phone and all at once it hit me-THIS MUST BE A DREAM!

I opened my eyes, found my cell phone, and saw the photo of my daughter, son and granddaughter and was brought back to the present. As my head cleared I vowed to always have my cellphone with me to help rescue me from difficult situations that made no sense--like this one. Slowly I remembered I was on the second day of a vacation with my wife. We were in Palm Springs in some TimeShare place that I vaguely remembered having stayed in some other time. I felt the pressure of a deadline to write an article--this article--or I might be banned from being able to publish any more articles. I would not want to lose the opportunity to continue writing these articles because of a missed deadline. Without the articles my life had a different character. I could not think, think about my thoughts in the same way. When I was writing the articles every occurence in my life took on an increased importance. What this had to do with the articles being published, I can't really explain. Why not write a diary, a daily journal and keep it for myself or not keep it. It's like lesing weight. I really would like to do it and I think I know how to do it as losing weight. I really would like to do it and I think I know how to do it as I had recently lost about 60 pounds by going to a doctor and paying a lot of money and seeing him every two weeks and paying additional amounts for

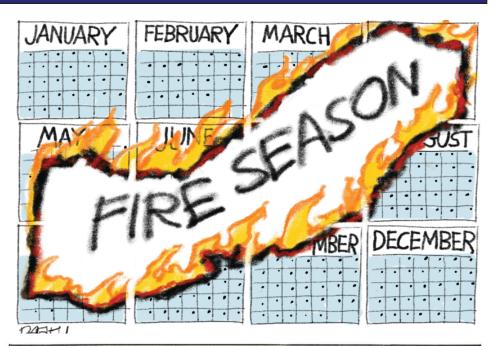

This is not a dream to which I am a passive observer this is my life and I want to be in control. It's all a matter of habit. I want to write the articles in a timely fashion and I want to follow the correct diet and exercise. Right now my energy level is down, I'm not sleeping well and I have this kind of foggy feeling and I'm very confused about what I want to do after I retire next year. I don't know where I'm going just like in the dream. This little vacation symbolized a break for me- a recognition of my last chance to take control of the direction of my life.

As I write this I wonder if it is possible that these words are of any interest but me. You, unknown perhaps non-existent reader are probably a better judge than I am. Do you have nonsensical troubling dreams from which you awake confused and often still trembling? Do you want to follow a life pattern you know is healthy but for the moment is so appalling that you can't even begin. A couple of other things might help me follow the right path. My wife and I, thanks to my daughter, recently had our first and only grandchild. My wife somehow created a cell phone case with a picture of my daughter and son solution the behalf is the behalf in the property of the propert holding the baby. I show this picture to someone everyday and I know I want to be healthy for my family - still I haven't begun.

Something happened yesterday that might help. My wife and I went to a Wal Mart to buy some shorts that would stay up so I could hit some golf balls at a nearby driving range. As we approached the mens activewear section I heard a laughing man speaking loudly to a store employee, "Here comes another double extra-large, see if you can find anything big enough for him."

Sixteen hours later I still hear him. If I'm allowed to keep writing these articles I let you know if I've been able to take some control of my life. If you want to reciprocate and let me know if I've been of any help to you please let me know.

My advice to you is to put a picture of what's most important to you attached to the back of your cellphone and maybe pay a little attention to the hidden messages of your dreams. Remember it's your life and not a dream - take control.

NO ESCAPE FROM TRADE WARS EFFECTS

The trade wars are hitting me where it hurts. One of my few respites from these rough-andtumble times is to sit by an autumn bonfire with good friends, a Leaf and Bean cigar and some fine Scotch whisky.

But, reports Forbes, the U.S. government announced last week a "25% tariff on all single malt Scotch whisky imports, as part of a wider set of tariffs aiming to punish the European Union." As of Oct. 18, Scotch whisky – and Parmesan cheese from Italy and olives from France and Spain, tasty goods I also enjoy – will be more expensive.

Regrettably, that means I have to pay attention to government trade actions - which is about as fun as spending hours watching spirits be distilled. Forbes says the origin of my costly-hooch woes dates back to 2004, when the U.S. got steamed that the E.U. was subsidizing Airbus' development of its A380 and A350 planes, which made competing harder for America's Boeing. To retaliate, the U.S. raised tariffs on the E.U., which caused the E.U. to raise tariffs on, among other things, American bourbon, which led the U.S.

to raise its tariff on Scotch whisky. I'm certainly no expert on tariff diplomacy – I found trying to grasp Economics 101 at Penn State unpleasant – but it seems much like a playground fight among children:

'You're a meanie!"

"You're a dodo head!"

'Nuh-huh!

"Yuh-huh!"

Investor's Business Daily (IBD) explains that tariffs used to be how America paid its bills – until 1913, with the introduction of the income tax (and later, payroll taxes).

The average U.S. tariff then fell until 1930, when – early in the Great Depression - the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act hiked the average U.S. tariff by about

This protectionist action spurred retaliation. IBD says "economists generally argue that Smoot-Hawley helped dry up global trade and exacerbated the Great Depression." Since then, tariffs had steadily trended lower - until recently.

"Before Trump took office, half of U.S. industrial imports entered the country duty-free, with no tariff imposed," IBD says. "In 2016, the average U.S. tariff rate was 1.6% across all products, according to the World Bank. ... After Trump's escalation of tariffs in May 2019, the average U.S. trade-weighted tariff rate stood at about 7.5%, according to a Deutsche Bank calculation." China, no stranger to unfair trade tactics, is a primary target.

"In 2018, Trump became the first president to systematically threaten and impose tariffs to try and reshape the flow of trade," IBD says. "Trump's stated purpose for new and higher tariffs? Shrink the 2017 U.S. trade deficit of $566 billion, boost U.S. production and increase manufacturing jobs."

Now we're in a bona fide trade war – which isn't going well. The trade deficit is getting worse, not better. Americans are paying more for low-cost imported goods they depend on. And American farmers, who depend on exports to pay their bills, are getting hurt as China retaliates.

It's a game of "chicken" that's imposing uncertainty and pain on global markets, including ours.

I don't know how it's going to turn out. But I do know these stresses and strains get more troubling by the day.

They're so troubling that I can't even escape them by sitting by an autumn bonfire with good friends, a Leaf and Bean cigar and some fine, though ever-more-costly, Scotch whisky.

CALIFORNIA BURNING

Tens of thousands of acres scorched by unstoppable wildfires.

Thousands of people evacuated from their homes near San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Electricity shut off to millions to prevent hurricane-strength Santa Ana winds from downing transmission wires and starting Wildfire season in California makes headlines every year, but it's nothing unnatural and nothing new.

It's been a cruel fact of nature up and down the once Golden State since before I was

When I was growing up my father had a ranch near Malibu. We had some wildfires out there, but what got burned were barns, stables and lots of grass and bushes. Olast year north of San Francisco, which is why the company has declared bankruptcy.

PG&E's got billions in legal claims to pay off, which is why the state gave it permission to raise its electricity rates, though they are already some of the highest in the U.S.

Like most regulated monopolies that are protected for decades by government from competition, PG&E is a poorly run, inefficient and antiquated company that charges customers higher and higher prices and provides lousier and lousier service.

What's worse, the company has been forced by the Democrats who run this one-party state to do a lot of really dumb things for environmental or politically correct reasons.

Instead of, say, spending the money to put powerlines underground decades ago or upgrading its transmission equipment, the company has had to blow billions on solar panels and other forms of green energy.

Other green policies mandated by the state have prevented PG&E from clearing enough trees and brush away from their powerlines to prevent fires.

Meanwhile, poor forestry management by governments has left gigantic amounts of wood and undergrowth that make wildfires bigger, more destructive and impossible to

Because the state has given PG&E and smaller power companies monopolies over their regions, energy consumers like me get screwed again and again.

Unlike lucky citizens living in more sensible states like Pennsylvania, we have no energy choices. We pay whatever the monopolies and their political friends in Sacramento tell us we have to pay.

Keeping the electricity, gas and water on in my 4,300-square-foot house in the San Fernando Valley, for example, costs me about $1,500 a month – the same as my mortgage.

About $400 of my bill goes to underwrite the cost of water and power for those who can't afford to pay for their own.

California, which has been putting the Green New Deal into practice long before AOC thought of it, is becoming like a Third World country.

Thanks to our idiotic politicians, we have tens of thousands of homeless people and drug users living in tents on the streets of our beautiful cities.

We can't manage or market our water supply fairly or sensibly. We can't produce energy that's affordable, reliable or safe.

And after all these years we still can't prevent wildfires from burning down our homes.
